Church supports defibrillator group

VICAR Melanie Prince, churchwardens Liz Davies and Graham Loveluck-Edwards, treasurer Conway Jones and other members of the PCC recently presented a cheque to Mandy Giltinan and members of the Rhoose De-fib Group.

Mandy expressed her thanks and said that this contribution, together with donations from other sources, meant that they were able to start the programme to arrange accessible defibrillators throughout the village.

A spokesperson said: "For more information, visit Rhoose Defib Group on Facebook. Make a donation through Just Giving or putting some cash into one of the tubs around the village; every little bit helps and you could help save a life!"

Residents' group calls for review of road safety at the Waterfront

BARRY Waterfront residents are calling for a review of local road safety following a collision that took place at the junction of Ffordd y Mileniwm and Ffordd y Dociau which involved a car and motorbike.

In February, The GEM reported residents' concerns after two accidents in a single day.

This week, Paul Motte, chair of Barry Waterfront Community Residents' Association appealed to the Vale Council and Waterfront developers to investigate road safety to reassure residents and visitors to Barry Island.

Mr Motte said: "I am really saddened to hear that there was an accident on the development on May 9. The residents' association has made formal representations on several occasions for road safety concerns to be investigated and to make the three traffic light controlled junctions safe and to ensure speed awareness along Ffordd y Mileniwm.

"We are calling for urgent action from both the Vale Council and the consortium of developers."

Mr Motte added: "Road safety has been a matter of great concern for the residents' association committee since we formed over a year ago and we have been very frustrated by the apparent lack of care and attention this matter has been given.

"We have decided to set up an online petition, calling on residents and the wider community to help us illustrate just how important this situation is and to put pressure on the consortium and the Vale Council to act now, before more preventable accidents occur."

The association says local residents have reported 'near misses' and 'confused drivers' at the traffic light junctions leading to Premier Inn, Asda and the Island car park.

The association wants clear road markings, filter lights and new road signage, which it believes would lower the risk of accidents.

Council needs to protect the Vale

NEITHER the new Tory leadership, nor those of the old cabinet, speak of their difference over building a new road to the M4 (J34) past Pendoylan and slashing through highly-valued countryside.

As AMs, both Andrew RT Davies and Jane Hutt have opposed this road, yet Cllr Jonathan Bird in his last action before resigning declared in favour of the link.

If Neil Moore's Labour plus Llantwit Independents are to do a deal with the dissident Tories, it's all too likely that they will pursue this new strategic road just as they pursued the damaging Five Mile Lane rebuild, slashing through a high-value (3,500 BC) archaeological site.

The Vale cannot afford yet another council leadership who treat sustainability as a joke and our unspoilt countryside as a development opportunity.

Scam warning after fraudsters con couple out of £10,000

OFFICERS in Penarth are warning the public to be cautious and vigilant after a couple lost £10,000 to fraudsters.

South Wales Police is currently investigating a fraud where a couple in Penarth were called last week out of the blue by someone claiming to be from their bank.

The fraudsters told the victim that money was being removed from their account and to keep it safe, they needed to move their money into another account.

Legitimate organisations such as your bank, HMRC or police will never call you asking you to transfer money. Neither will they ask you for your pin or full banking password.

Penarth Inspector Andy Rice said: "We urge everyone to remember that the police, banks or HMRC would never contact you and ask for you to transfer money to 'keep safe' – this is a scam.

"These fraudsters are manipulative, calculating and operate extremely professionally, and it is understandable that victims may believe these calls to be genuine. In this case, it appears the fraudsters have spoofed the telephone number of the victims' bank.

"Our advice is to treat all unsolicited calls with caution. Do not feel pressurised into making a quick decision - a genuine organisation won't mind giving you time to stop and think.

"If you receive a call that seems to come from your bank or a similar organisation, say you will call them back. But use another phone line, such as a mobile phone or landline, or wait at least five minutes before using the same line.

"If you have received any suspicious calls you can report it on 101 or Action Fraud 0300 123 2040."

Remember our top tips:

• If something seems too good to be true, it probably is.

• Banks, police and HMRC will never ask for personal details, bank details, or for you to withdraw money from your account.

• Never tell anyone your PIN, and never enter it into a telephone.

Llandow waste tip – what is the Vale Council planning?

FURTHER to Mrs J E Davies' letter to The GEM (March 21) headed 'Road service is deteriorating at waste tip', one of several such letters over many years, I noted that the Vale Council came back with the usual response, ie that the centre is located on private land and so is not owned or maintained by the council.

The council also stated that it was considering the future of the site and the possibility of moving the site elsewhere.

I contacted the council on March 18, and asked to speak with the officer responsible for the site. One week later I received a call in which the officer indicated that there was nothing they could do at the present time and stated I would need to submit a Freedom of Information request to obtain specified further information.

On March 25 I submitted such a request asking for the date the lease would end, the annual rental figure, and the approximate tonnage collected from the site. I eventually received a formal reply on May 7. This stated that the lease expires in December 2019, details of the rental could not be provided due to such fees being of a commercially sensitive nature, and that the tonnage figure removed from the site between April 2017 and March 2018 was 3,512 tonnes.

It appears entirely reasonable to say that the tonnage collected would be significantly greater if the access was more user friendly.

With the lease ending in December 2019, it appears clear that the council now needs to come up with a far more responsible and respectful response than saying that they are 'considering' the future of the site and the 'possibility' of moving the site elsewhere. Their planning should now be relatively advanced in terms of locating and setting up any such site and action is needed, not just words.

The council has spent a significant sum in writing to all households rating them Green, Red, or Amber for waste disposal and referring to their campaign 'Everyone's doing it'. When it come to Llandow recycling , the council may well wish to rate themselves at this time and tell us precisely what action has been taken.

We do not wish to reach December and enter any further period of years or months driving through potholes to our local recycling centre.

Council's new Conservative group leader's 'clean hands' welcomed

CONGRATULATIONS to Vince Bailey on becoming leader of the Conservative group on the Vale Council.

I am a member of Friends of the Earth and DIAG, and would like to thank him for his support, both before and after becoming a councillor, and understanding of the frustration of the people with the way decisions have been made and carried out by previous administrations.

As a young and relatively new councillor, he has clean hands as far as decisions to grant planning permission and in smoothing the path for the construction and pre-commissioning of the incinerator.

This puts him in the ideal position to reach out to councillors of all political persuasions to fulfil his stated desire during a meeting with myself, Cllr D Clarke (Plaid Cymru) the Cllr ART Davies (Conservative) to push forward as a matter of urgency (before government subsidies are granted by Ofgen on the misleading premise that hot incineration of biomass material is green) an investigation into the mistakes, errors and oversights by all involved to recommend and allow the planning consents and construction of the incinerator so close to existing and proposed residential areas.

In light of 15 months' deliberation by the Welsh Government on the legalities of an Environmental Impact Assessment, a thorough investigation is the very least that the people of Barry and Wales deserve, so this debacle cannot be repeated.

I look forward to our new administration doing the right thing in an open and transparent way, keeping us all informed so people's lives will mean as much as distant moneyed pressure groups and vested interests.

Paul Robertson,
Barry.

Thank you to everyone at crash site

EARLY last Sunday morning, my wife was driving along a road when she collided with a central island.

The car overturned and she was left dazed.

A young boy who was passing and a local resident called the emergency services and she was attended by the police, fire brigade and a first responder who all made her comfortable until an ambulance took her to hospital.

After being treated, she was allowed home bruised but safe.

We would like to thank everyone who treated her at the University Hospital of Wales and at the crash scene for all their hard work.

Ashley and Julia Wallace, Barry.

'Time to think outside the box (office)'

IN the recent article in The GEM about the new Whitmore School, maybe it's time to think outside the box.

Why not get a cinema chain involved with the new school? Instead of having the standard school hall, imagine an auditorium for school use during the day and films during the evenings.

A win-win for Barry, since we currently have no cinema.

Richard Davies, Rhoose.

Editor's note: Barry does have a cinema, at the Memorial Hall, although you can never have too many cinemas in my opinion!

Conservatives who 'jumped ship' should resign

IT appears that the cabinet at the Vale Council is attempting to cling onto power by becoming independents, therefore giving themselves free rein to drive through any policy that suits them or their associates regardless of election promises, party policy or the will of the public they are supposed to serve.

Every voter in the Vale should be calling for an election in those wards where their councillor has jumped ship.

David Evans, Cowbridge.

Future control of the Vale Council hangs in the balance

THE leader of the Vale Council, Cllr John Thomas, has resigned from the Conservative party after he joined his cabinet in walking away from the party group.

It is understood Cllr Thomas is among five councillors who have resigned from the Conservative party after pledging to form a new independent group on the council. Three other councillors now sitting as independents have yet to confirm their intentions.

The GEM has also been told the councillors who currently remain in the party face suspension from the Vale Conservatives and action may be taken soon.

Cllr Michael Morgan, who joined the council leader and his cabinet in resigning from the council group, has also confirmed his resignation.

The leader of the new independent group is Cllr Ben Gray.

The other councillors who have resigned are deputy leader of the council, Hunter Jarvie, cabinet members Geoff Cox, Jonathan Bird and Andrew Parker and Cllr Kathryn McCaffer. Cllr Thomas and his cabinet remain in the ruling body as independent members.

A new administration is expected to be formed at the Vale Council's AGM on May 20.

The resignations came after Cllr Vince Bailey was elected Vale Conservative group leader following a vote by Tory councillors. He says he will propose a minority administration.

There is speculation that the new independent group would prop up an administration led by Labour and also include Llantwit First.

Cllr Thomas said: "My issue is the way Cllr Bailey wants to take the group and, if he gets the chance, the council. I don't think it's going to work. In his manifesto, he's rejecting any income generation opportunities.

"He's rejecting the savings that we have put in place and he's saying he will keep council tax below the level of inflation.

"I don't think he would be prepared to make the decisions necessary to keep the council on a decent financial footing which we have managed to do over the last couple of years."

The exodus from the Conservative group leaves the party with just 15 councillors.

In his manifesto, Cllr Bailey is pledging to scrap proposals to introduce new car parking charges in the Vale, stop the 'closure' of Llancarfan Primary School and curb inflation-busting council tax rises.

He also pledges to deliver the Dinas Powys Bypass, review the Vale's Local Development Plan and oppose the Barry incinerator.

Cllr Bailey said: "Unfortunately, too many people feel that their views are simply being ignored and that Vale consultations are just tick box exercises. Take the proposals around car parking charges, or the closure of Llancarfan School. I don't think anyone outside of the Civic Offices believes that those decisions weren't already done deals, and that's simply unacceptable.

"I've been criticised for wanting to listen to the people who elected me, and I make no apologies for that. Under my leadership, that's exactly what would happen and while I do accept that there are difficult decisions to be taken, we have to take the public with us – not ignore their legitimate concerns."

Conservative councillor for Dinas Powys, Andrew Robertson, has blasted the splitters for their "entitlement" and called for them to be banned.

He said: "The way in which they reacted to losing that vote demonstrates a level of entitlement that is dangerous in a politician. There has been a growing feeling among the Conservative group as a whole that the electorate of the Vale are not being well served by the cosy establishment that exists within the council.

"Increasingly we have felt that those things that the electorate wanted us to do are being denied them, and that those things that the electorate do not wish to happen are being rammed down their throats.

"I cannot say how the Conservative Association will deal with the rebels, but my advice would be that they should be banned from the Conservative Party for life.

"Most have had the benefit of safe seats in communities such as Cowbridge, St Athan, Peterston-super-Ely and Plymouth ward in Penarth. I never wish to see them being allowed to stand again in those seats on a Conservative ticket. They should never be forgiven."

Cllr Morgan pledged to work for the benefit of everyone in his ward of Peterston-Super-Ely after resigning as a Conservative.

He said: "This is not a decision I have taken lightly and has been reached after a great deal of careful thought. I respect all our councillors, regardless of their political persuasions, for their work within the Vale Council and in their wards.

"I feel that a collaborative approach among us is in the best interests of the Vale. The surge of support for independent councillors elected in England last week would support this view.

"I will continue as an independent councillor working for the benefit of everyone in our ward."

Dinas man to run D-Day beaches for military charity

A DINAS Powys man will be running 44 miles along the Normandy coast to mark the 75th anniversary of D-Day on June 6.

RAF reservist, Martin Wade, will be following a route across the invasion beaches to raise money for the military mental health charity, Combat Stress.

He will also be taking on the challenge in memory of his grandfather, Sergeant Bert Wade, who landed with the Royal Engineers on the beaches of Normandy.

The 49-year-old, who has competed in many half-marathons, marathons and ultra-marathons, said that although this was among the toughest challenges he has taken on, he was conscious of the much tougher challenge facing men who landed on those beaches on D-Day in 1944.

Martin said: "The 44 miles will be gruelling, but it's nothing compared to the experience of those who went ashore 75 years ago. We can only imagine what it felt like to wait in a pitching landing craft, not knowing if you would be cut down in a hail of fire or if you would survive to the end of the day.

"Some did make it through, like my granddad, but many didn't and I will be thinking of them as I run along those beaches."

Martin serves with Number 614 (County of Glamorgan) Squadron of the Royal Auxiliary Air Force, Wales' only RAF Reserves unit. He will be joining runners who will also be raising money for military charities including The British Limbless Veterans Charity.

Martin said that he is proud to be raising money for Combat Stress and to support the work they do: "Combat Stress have been helping former servicemen and women deal with issues like post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD), anxiety and depression for 100 years and have been there to help veterans from all the wars the UK has fought since then. Today, they support and give specialist treatment to veterans and I hope my fundraising will help them in the work they do."

RAF Reservist Martin Wade will undertake his coastal run in June.

Rotary club welcomes writer of new musical

PICTURED (left to right): President Jill Osborne, Mark Collard, president elect David Jakeway and treasurer Lynne Jakeway.

MARK Collard was the guest speaker at the Rotary Club of Barry's May dinner meeting held in Brynhill Golf Club on May 2.

Mark spoke about his musical 'Waiting for Blue', based on and inspired by his father-in-law Mel, who died from dementia in 2016.

Originally from St Georges near Cardiff, Mel served in the Royal Marines during World War Two, was a Deacon at Salem Baptist Church and lived most of his life in Barry before moving to Nashville, Tennessee, where he lived for 25 years before returning to the UK.

'Waiting for Blue' is a semi-staged musical written by Mark Collard set in the fictitious Blue Grass Cafe, a kind of homage to the country cafes in and around Nashville where Mel would have visited after Sunday church to enjoy some lunch and a chat.

Full of narrative poetry, the songs follow a journey which touch your heart and soul while bringing a smile to your face!

'Waiting for Blue' is about raising awareness and creating a better understanding of living with dementia through narrative and song. The musical was first performed at the end of April in Cadoxton Conservative Club, Barry.

Barry Rotary Club treasurer, Lynne Jakeway, gave a vote of thanks to Mark at the end of the most interesting presentation.

For further information, contact Mark Collard on 07934 112279 or email ttcmc92@gmail.com.

Debra's tales of the Gower delight Sully U3A

'ALL is dark, all is hushed…' so began the dramatic and often humorous monologue, 'Gower Dreaming', performed by Debra John at Sully U3A's May general meeting.

Suitably attired in mop cap and white gown, Debra took members on an imagined tour of old Gower in the company of Rev John Davies, a Victorian parson from Llangennith.

Leaving the dark of Cathole Cave near Parkmill and progressing through Pennard Castle at Three Cliffs Bay, on to Port Eynon, Rhossili and Llanmadoc, the audience were drawn into the strange happenings of times gone by.

Along the way, they encountered smugglers, shipwrecked sailors, and various colourful local characters. Never far away were the fairy folk, or 'verry volks' as Rev Davies referred to them. They would play their entrancing music and bestow bounties or curses. For the good, there were barrels of ale that never ran dry, but the unkind had their castles buried by sand.

Perhaps a more believable threat was the visit from the Swansea customs officials, hunting hidden brandy and tobacco, but the enterprising locals were never short of a clever ruse to outwit them.

As the tour came to an end in Rev Davies's home parish, the listeners were allowed a peek behind the altar cloth, where barrels and caskets suggested that the Reverend was maybe not all that law abiding himself!

At the end of the performance, the audience were left marvelling at Debra's storytelling skills, her prodigious memory, and her ability to conjure up places and people in vivid detail.

The next monthly meeting will be the AGM on Thursday, June 13 at 2pm in the Old School, Sully. For further information on Sully U3A and its activity groups, visit u3asites.org.uk/sully/home, or email membership@sullyu3a.co.uk.

Barry Male Voice Choir members were thrilled to be presented with a £250 donation from Vale Mayor Cllr Leighton Rowlands.

Barry Male Voice Choir looks forward to Llandaff!

BARRY Male Voice Choir has received £250 from the Vale of Glamorgan Mayor's Foundation to help towards its concert in October at Llandaff Cathedral.

The choir will be joined by a junior choir from Barry, and also the Wessex Male Voice Choir. The event is to promote the core values of music and singing in one of Wales' most spectacular locations, promoting the strong relationships between traditional male voice choirs and religious communities.

Over two world wars, the advent of radio and television and all the other social changes brought by the 20th century, Barry Male Voice Choir has been involved in 113 years of unbroken music-making. From humble beginnings as a group of 12 men it grew to become a choir more than 100 strong.

In its early days, the emphasis was on competitions and the success achieved was considerable. In recent years, the choir has concentrated on charity concerts and weddings and remains at the heart of Barry's community activities, taking part in many civic functions.

Vale Mayor Cllr Leighton Rowlands said: "It was a privilege to present a cheque to them to help towards their concert. Barry Male Voice Choir brings so much joy to the residents of Barry with their fantastic voices and brilliant performances.

"The aim of the mayor's Foundation Grant Fund is to offer grants to community groups like the choir that help support the council's vision of 'Strong Communities with a Bright Future' – and the Llandaff concert will definitely do this."

Ysgol Gymraeg Bro Morgannwg teachers raise £7,000 for the Elusen Jac Bach charity

OVER the May bank holiday weekend, six teachers from Ysgol Gymraeg Bro Morgannwg took to their bikes to raise money for charity and so far, they have raised more than £7,000 for the Elusen Jac Bach charity.

The teachers rode a total of 250 miles as they cycled from Holyhead to Cardiff in three days. They started on the Saturday morning, riding to Dolgellau in one day. The hills then started to get tougher on the Sunday as they pedalled to Builth, before arriving at Cardiff Bay by 5pm on the Monday afternoon, to the cheers and applause of the supporting crowd.

Sian Gimblett, founder of the charity and organiser of the fundraiser, has completed several challenges over the years to raise money for her charity. Elusen Jac Bach charity was founded in 2015 in memory of her son, Jac. Since starting the charity in 2015, they have already raised over £100,000 for numerous causes. The charity's aim is to help families by raising funds for children who need life-changing treatment.

Sian said: "We're always looking for new ways of raising money and challenging ourselves, both physically and mentally. What made this event so special was the support of my co-workers at Ysgol Gymraeg Bro Morgannwg, who have always supported the charity. The friendship and the constant encouragement helped all of us to complete this huge challenge."

The teachers were back at school on Tuesday, ready to prepare pupils for their exams, although maybe with a few sore legs! If you wish to contribute, donate via www.goldengiving.com/fundraising/Seiclo or visit www.jacbach.com.

New stores to open on Waitrose site

ICELAND food warehouse and Home Bargains will be moving onto the Waitrose site in Barry.

Waitrose announced in March that it would officially close on Sunday, June 9.

A planning application has now been submitted to the Vale Council ahead of the change so that the site can be split between the two new stores.

Iceland and Home Bargains are expected to open their doors within months of Waitrose closing.

Vale MP Alun Cairns has held discussions with the site developers Anlo Properties to find out more about their plans.

He said: "I'm pleased that after the sad news that Waitrose would be closing that we have had two strong brands stepping forward to set up in Barry.

"After speaking with them, I'm impressed with their proactive approach and they have reassured me that they are keen to work with our community."

Mr Cairns added: "This represents an investment of over half a million pounds through the adaptations they will make to the store.

"It's a clear vote of confidence in Barry and, most importantly, I'm pleased that they are expected to employ similar numbers of people to Waitrose."

Fonmon residents' plans to save the village pond

Chris Evans from Highwayman Secure Parking and Denise Cooper, chairperson of Save Fonmon Pond.

CAMPAIGNERS bidding to rescue the century-old duck pond in Fonmon have been given the go ahead to carry out the first stage of repair work.

The Vale Council has given preliminary consent for the group to remove weeds and brambles that are choking the willows and weakening the wall around the pond, causing it to leak.

People from Fonmon, Rhoose and Aberthaw formed the Save Fonmon Pond group last summer to try and prevent the loss of a pond which dried from the combined effect of exceptionally low rainfall, high temperatures and leaks from the base and boundary wall.

Through fundraising events, including a race night at the Fontygary Inn and a donation from the owners of Highwayman Secure Parking, the group are now well on the way to achieving the first target of £5,000.

"We've made some significant progress since last year," said Save Fonmon Group chairperson Denise Cooper.

"After extensive discussions with the Vale Council and Natural Resources Wales, we've now been told we could do some initial work starting in September. It's great news but we are still waiting to hear from the council – who have overall responsibility for the pond – what action they will take to deal with the more fundamental problem of ensuring a reliable supply of water for the pond."

The pond has long been a focal point in the village and used regularly as a picturesque backdrop for wedding photographs. The water level rose during winter and spring, encouraging moorhens and wild ducks to return, but the pond is vulnerable during long spells of dry weather.

"We're due to meet representatives from the council's highways department shortly along with our local councillor Andrew RT Davies, to get agreement on a path forward. We have a lot of support from the community and tremendous willingness to get work done, but we can only do so much ourselves. The council's involvement is critical," added Denise.

To support the project, visit the Save Fonmon Pond group on Facebook. Donations can be made via the group's donation page on www.gofundme.com or by emailing savefonmonpond@gmail.com.

Road safety fears at the Waterfront

It says residents have witnessed cars speeding along Ffordd y Mileniwm and wants traffic calming measures too, especially at the park site where houses are close to the road.

A spokesperson for the consortium of developers at Barry Waterfront said: "We are sorry to hear of the incident on Fford y Mileniwm and we would like to assure the local community that we take matters such as these very seriously.

"We are aware of the Barry Waterfront Community Residents' Association's concerns, and we have commissioned an independent traffic consultant to review the situation with highway officers from the local authority."

The GEM understands a report of the consultant's findings will be submitted to the council and the consortium will work with the council to implement any feasible recommendations.

Welsh 'exile' returns for a nostalgic visit to Barry Island

A FORMER south Wales resident made a nostalgic trip back to Barry Island earlier this month.

Adrian Pike, who was originally from Pontypridd, left Wales for the United States in 1981. When he returned recently after 38 years, Barry Island was high on his list of places to visit.

Mr Pike worked at Tenovus in Cardiff before relocating to Denver and taking up a role as a professor at Colorado University of Health & Science.

He told The GEM: "I remember travelling to Barry Island with my mother on a steam train over 50 years ago in the days of Butlins, scenic railways and cable cars. It was wonderful to return there."

Despite the passing years, Mr Pike observed that while the landscape of Whitmore Bay with the shelters had changed very little, there were significant changes to the outlying areas. He enjoyed a coffee at Marco's Cafe and chips in the Western Shelter.

Classic car show comes to the Vale

THE Rotary Club of Dinas Powys is once again organising the Vale of Glamorgan Classic car show.

This year's show will be held on May 27 in the grounds of the Sully Sports and Leisure Club. The gates are open to the public at 10:30am, the cost of entrance is £3.50 for adults, accompanied under-14s free. The show will raise funds for Prostate Cymru, Barnardo's Cymru and local good causes.

The show promises more cars than ever. On display will be over 200 classic cars manufactured up to 1995 and a wide range of motorbikes. The National Triumph Stag Owners Club will also attend the show and will be displaying 30 cars.

As well as vehicles, you can also visit the autojumble, a haven of parts and spares for anyone working on their car; stalls selling a range of hard-to-find car and motorcycle parts, accessories, merchandise, memorabilia plus vintage items and crafts.

This year there is also plenty to do for the non-car enthusiast: there will be a range of catering outlets, charity stalls including Vale Owls and the RNLI, supported by the Barry Model Boat Club, and a fun fair.

So, whether interested in classic cars or just taking the children out for the day there will be something for everyone.

Lewis says thank you to SSAFA with mountain climb

A FORMER Royal Navy serviceman, Lewis Morgan, will be taking on Mount Toubkal, in North Africa, in September to raise money for armed forces charity SSAFA.

Mr Morgan said: "I'm ex-Royal Navy and served for five years, spending around three and a half at sea. I currently work for Openreach and along with 20 other Openreach personnel, I will be tackling Mt Toubkal to raise money for SSAFA.

"Most of us are ex-Forces and a few are very supportive civilians. We all have personal reasons for doing this. Mine is that I and my family have used SSAFA's services and this is a chance to repay them."

He added: "SSAFA is helping former and currently serving members of the Armed Forces with any situation that they may face. This can range from confidential help for PTSD, financial assistance for families, and everything in between."

Lewis Morgan with MP Alun Cairns.

Lewis, who lives in Rhoose, has sought advice from Vale MP Alun Cairns on the best ways to raise funds ahead of his climb, given his experience of fundraising for charity over a number of years.

Mr Cairns said: "I'm really pleased to support Lewis. We had a long discussion about how he can reach his target and I'm confident that he will. SSAFA provides vitally important support for veterans and their families.

"It is great to see Lewis not only raise funds for the charity, but also raise the profile and awareness of the great work they carry out."

Lewis has a charity box at Fat Boys Fish & Chips on Holton Road and you can also support him by donating via the link https://ssafa-openreach.charitycheckout.co.uk/pf/lewis-morgan

AM supports RNLI event at Barry Island

VALE AM Jane Hutt joined the RNLI lifeboat crew and volunteers at their Barry Island event on Sunday, May 12, to raise funds and support for the lifesaving service.

Ms Hutt said: "It was a wonderful sunny day on Barry Island when our RNLI team of volunteers and crew members displayed their boat and equipment, raised funds alongside the Coastguard team, Capability Not Disability, many stalls and the Barry Community Choir who sang to the crowds.

"Well done, RNLI, for your all year round wonderful work!"

Community cinema in Penarth

THE All Saints' Community Cinema in Penarth which screens films once a month to a sell-out audience, has taken part in the Vale Venues Cinema Festival.

The cinema entertained an audience of 50 with a super afternoon tea followed by the screening of the classic film Brief Encounter. It was something new for All Saints' Cinema to try, and was well received by the audience.

Among the members of the audience on Saturday was a gentleman whose sister Margaret Burton was actually in the film. Margaret played the part of Beryl, a waitress in the station cafe and with modern day technology we were able to stop the film when 'Beryl' had her part.

She is now 95 and her claim to fame, apart from being in the film, was that she is the oldest person to marry in the UK, marrying in 2014 at the age of 91.

The cinema will be trying other new and interesting things during the coming months, alongside their successful film nights. Their next film is Thursday, May 16, and they are screening The Book Thief.

Penarth awarded 'Plastic Free Communities' Status

PENARTH has joined a network of communities across the UK who are leading the way on tackling throw-away plastic.

The town has been awarded Plastic Free Community status by marine conservation charity Surfers Against Sewage (SAS), in recognition of the work it has done to start reducing the impact of single-use plastic on the environment.

Local resident Anthony Slaughter of environmental organisation Gwyrddio Penarth Greening (GPG) started the campaign last year, with other members of the community after a public meeting attracted strong interest. A five-point plan was put forward.

The objectives include: setting up a community-led steering group, instigating the SAS Plastic Free Schools education programme, getting local council commitment and working with local businesses, organisations and community groups to spread the word and minimise the amount of disposable plastics they use.

The campaign received strong support from local independent businesses, many of which were already taking steps to reduce use of single use plastics. Alison Jones, owner of restaurant Crepe Escape had already replaced plastic straws, cutlery and cups in her business and played an important role in the campaign steering group by engaging and encouraging other local businesses.

Gideon Calder, GPG chair and steering group member said: "We are delighted that the community's efforts to tackle this important issue have been recognised with the award of the SAS Plastic Free Community status.

"Of course, Penarth will never be completely free of plastic, but this campaign will seriously reduce the use of polluting single use plastics in our community."

Rachel Yates, SAS plastic free communities project officer, said: "It's great to see the work that Penarth has done to reduce the availability of avoidable plastics, raise awareness and encourage people to refill and reuse."

New chairman elected on Dinas Powys community council

Cllr Steve Thomas (right) hands over to the new chair of Dinas Powys Community Council, Cllr John Fanshaw.

THE retiring chair of Dinas Powys Community Council, Cllr Steve Thomas raised more than £1,150 for charity during his year in office, it has been reported.

Cllr Thomas said: "One of the most memorable events in the last year was the Remembrance Day service. It was marvellous to see so many people present and truly humbling to play a small part in the service.

"I was pleased to support a number of charities including High Voltage drama group, who all have learning difficulties, and performed The Wizard of Oz which raised a total of £1,150. Other initiatives have also boosted the total."

Long standing community councillor John Fanshaw has been elected the new Chair of Dinas Powys Community Council.

Cllr Fanshaw is active in many local organisations including Dinas Powys Voluntary Concern, the Murchfield Community Association, the Parish of St Andrew Major, Dinas Powys Village Show, the summer play scheme and the Remembrance Day liaison committee.

The charities he has chosen to support during his year of office are Pancreatic Cancer Research, in memory of his late wife, Cynthia and Dinas Powys Voluntary Concern.

Community councillor Chris Franks paid tribute to retiring chair Steve Thomas and said: "I would like to thank Cllr Thomas on behalf of the council. Steve tends to hide his light under a bushel so we are not always aware of his hard work in the village and representing Dinas Powys across the Vale."

Cllr Richard Grigg was unanimously elected vice chair of council.

Penarth sale helps Lesotho

THE Penarth and District Lesotho Trust (PADLT) held its annual plant and craft sale last Saturday.

It attracted a really good attendance, no doubt helped by the lovely sunny weather, with all the plants being sold very quickly – all the vegetable plants had gone just three quarters of an hour after we opened.

The craft stalls indoors were also enjoyed, with some people making bookmarks from pressed flowers. All of these activities helped to raise the great sum of just over £1,500, £300 up on last year.

This really shows the importance of the support given by the community to helping the children and families of Lesotho which is, of course, twinned with Wales.

We shall now discuss with TY Junior Academy and St Cecilia's Orphanage and Centre for Teenage Mothers the best ways of using this money, but we would like to thank everyone who came to the fair, everyone who manned a stall or who donated plants and cakes – your support is really appreciated and valued.

Aviation Society visit the Imperial War Museum

MEMBERS of Penarth Aviation Society visited the Imperial War Museum, London on May 8 as part of a programme of visits planned by the society for this year.

The museum was founded in 1917 during World War One and commemorates those who gave their lives.

Displays include General Montgomery's staff car, a wreckage of a midget submarine and the nose of a Lancaster bomber.

A sobering exhibition was that of the Holocaust, illustrating how over two thirds of the Jewish population were murdered. Russians, Gypsies, those with mental problems and homosexuals suffered the same fate.

It was encouraging to note the large number of schoolchildren and young people visiting the exhibits.

On return to Penarth, members enjoyed a meal together at a local hostelry.

Burst water main and work at Weycock Cross not connected

WELSH Water insists that a repair to a burst water main late last week had nothing to do with ongoing work at Weycock Cross.

The company was responding to a question posed by GEM reader Paul Blanchard who asked: "Can somebody from Dwr Cymru confirm that the recent water problems in the Cwm Talwg /Port Road area of Barry have nothing to do with the work being carried out at Weycock Cross?

"On May 10, there were eight Dwr Cymru vans parked at Tesco on Port Road during the latest 'burst water main'. This is the third time a water main has burst in this area of Barry. Is it a coincidence?"

A Welsh Water spokeswoman responded: "We were made aware of a burst water main in Barry in the early hours of Friday morning, May 10. This has now been repaired. We are very sorry for the inconvenience that was caused and assure everybody affected that we did all we could to restore normal service as quickly as possible.

"We are carrying out work at Weycock Cross as part of a scheme by Vale Council to widen the road; however, this work is not connected to the burst water main."

Miracle mum survived being dumped in a black bag and now has a beautiful kitten

Friday and baby kitten Saturday. (Photo be Sue Dobbs).

A PREGNANT cat was dumped and left for dead in a bin bag by the side of the road in Pontycymmer and was only discovered when children in a nearby garden heard her meows and alerted their father.

"The children's father went to investigate and found the cat inside a plastic bin bag – which had been tied in a knot to seal it," said Sue Dobbs, manager of Cats Protection's Bridgend Adoption Centre.

"This was on Good Friday, the hottest day of the year so far.

"Temperatures reached 21ºC so it would have been extremely hot inside the bag and the poor cat inside had no escape route.

"It's unlikely the cat would have survived for much longer if she hadn't been discovered when she was."

The member of the public took the cat – now named Friday after the day she was found – to Cats Protection's Bridgend Adoption Centre in Pant Hirwaun, Bryncethin.

One-year-old Friday was treated for conjunctivitis and cat flu and on Saturday, May 4, she gave birth to a black-and-white kitten. The kitten has been named Saturday.

Sue said: "Friday was clearly traumatised by her ordeal when she first arrived but she soon turned into a little sweetie.

"She's very chatty and has obviously been someone's pet at some point.

"Her kitten Saturday is a little miracle. Despite their terrible ordeal they're both doing well and Friday is proving to be a fantastic mum."

Friday and her kitten won't be available for adoption or reservations until they are ready to go to their forever homes after about eight weeks.

Anyone interested in giving them a new home can keep an eye out for them on the centre's website: www.bridgend.cats.org.uk/bridgend.

You can also help the centre fund Friday and Saturday's care via Just Giving: www.bit.ly/2JdxJF7 or by texting BRID to 70577 to donate £5 (text donation terms and conditions can be found at www.cats.org.uk/sms-terms).

Sue said: "I urge anyone who is no longer able to care for their cat or kittens to get in touch with us.

"We understand that life can change drastically and rapidly, so there's no judgement when cats and kittens are handed over to us – we just want them to be safe and well.

"It also helps if we can be given as much information about the cat's history, personality and likes and dislikes that we can pass on to future adopters."

This year Cats Protection's cat care assistants, who help look after cats like Friday and her kitten, are being supported by players of People's Postcode Lottery, who have raised just over £1million for the charity to-date.

'The Vale Council is heading for coalition' – official

THE current Leader of the Vale of Glamorgan Council, Cllr John Thomas has this week formally resigned his position, with effect from the Council's Annual General Meeting on Monday, May 20.

A statement from a Vale Council spokesperson said: "The head of democratic services has also received formal notification from a group of eight councillors that they have established a new political group, the Vale Independents Group.

"Notification has also been received from the group leaders of the Labour, Llantwit First and the Vale Independents groups of their intention to form a coalition administration following the election of a new Leader of the Council at the AGM.

"A new cabinet and cabinet portfolios will then be presented to the meeting.

"New chairs for the Council's scrutiny and regulatory committees will also be proposed and elected at the meeting. The future allocation of committee seats will be published ahead of the AGM, once the political balance calculations that determine each group's allocation have been completed."

Digital skills courses launched for rural Vale

BUDDING bloggers, social media influencers and web designers in the rural Vale will be able to sharpen their skills this summer at a series of courses launched this week by the Vale Council.

There are also courses on offer with a more entrepreneurial focus, including sessions on using Google Ads, e-commerce tools and LinkedIn, as well as others designed to help individuals get up to speed on some of the benefits the internet has to offer.

All the courses take place in May, June and July. All residents living in the rural Vale or those working for third sector organisations benefitting the Vale are eligible for a heavily subsidised rate.

Cllr Jonathan Bird, cabinet member for regeneration and planning, said: "The council recognises digital technology has the potential to transform areas like the rural Vale, and the prospects for people living and doing business there.

"These courses are designed to keep those living in the rural Vale, and third sector organisations working in the Vale, up to speed with the latest developments in digital technology.

"The rural Vale is home to all types of people and we have tried to make sure there is something for everyone. People can give their prospects a boost by learning more about digital marketing and doing business online.

"We expect demand to be very high, so anyone interested should book soon to avoid disappointment."

The courses are running from May 13 to July 11 and are either 'bitesize' three-hour sessions, extended 6.5 hour sessions, or in the case of the 'Build your own Website' course, a series of three three-hour sessions. All of the courses are being delivered by ProMo Cymru.

Further details and links to book can be found online at www.valeofglamorgan.gov.uk/digitaltraining. Alternatively anyone interested can call 01446 704754 or email create@valeofglamorgan.gov.uk for more information.

'Scrap Vale parking proposals' says new Tory group leader

THE new Conservative group leader on the Vale Council has pledged to take proposed car parking charges "back to the drawing board" after meeting Barry Island traders.

Local Conservative group leader, Cllr Vincent Bailey (left) met Barry Island trader Louis Ross of Barrybados last week.

Cllr Vincent Bailey met Louis Ross, who runs the Beach Hut Gift Shop and Barrybados, last week. During the meeting he outlined his plans for the Vale and pledged to scrap the current proposals for car parking which were produced under the outgoing administration.

Cllr Bailey hopes to form a minority administration on the council next week, but a coalition of other groups could also take control.

He said: "The traders aren't saying that no-one should ever pay to park on the Island, but it's clear that the current proposals would be a disaster for them – especially during winter.

"These plans were flawed from the start and would also do huge damage to our struggling town centres. Sadly, the policy looks more like a 'cash grab' than a genuine attempt to improve parking in the county.

"That's why we need to take this package right back to the drawing board and work with everyone affected to come up with a scheme that works for the whole of the Vale."

Cllr Bailey said other groups on the council had to make their views clear on the issue, particularly those seeking to lead the council.

Mr Ross told The GEM: "It was a productive meeting. I've met all the three main parties, Plaid, Labour and the Conservatives. My view is that the parking proposals should be scrapped and we should start again. Not one trader was properly consulted."

Mr Ross said he hoped that the groups taking control of the Vale Council next week would adopt a similar view.

Vale Council launches Veteran Advice Centre

THE Vale Council has launched a new service offering free impartial information, advice and support to members of the Armed Forces within the county.

Those who are serving or have served can access guidance and assistance from a specially designated officer on matters such as housing, employment, finances, benefits, social care and more.

The Veteran Advice Service also helps to identify which of the many organisations supporting the Armed Forces community can offer the right assistance in each individual case.

Cllr Janice Charles, Vale Council Armed Forces Champion, said: "Armed Forces veterans put everything on the line to help protect their communities and it's important we do all we can to help them in any way possible.

"Adjusting back to civilian life after service can be difficult and the aim of this initiative is to make that process as simple as possible. I'm proud to be the Vale's Armed Forces Champion and represent some of the most valuable people within our community."

Recently, the Council's Armed Forces advisor, Abigail Warburton, helped rehome one veteran who had been living in his car. He was taken through the process of applying for council housing and was subsequently offered a home which was furnished with a bed, sofa, dining table and chairs, stereo and more by the family of another veteran, Thomas Brinley Evans, who had recently passed away.

Further items, including a washing machine and cleaning products, were donated by Caroline and Helena Morgan-Phillips of Poppylicious. Jan, a coordinator of Friends of Rhondda Rotary Community Shop, donated furniture and some crockery, while Richard Jones Carpets of Barry offered free carpets after learning of the veteran's plight. The Royal British Legion have also offered support and ongoing contact through their community support project.

The Veteran said: "I would like to say a special thank you to Abi Warburton. This lady has been outstanding and without her support and kindness I would still be living in my car. The warm fuzzy feeling that I had just knowing that she was behind the scenes fighting my corner was great.

"She was ringing me at least once a week even if there was no good news, which was very reassuring. The Armed Forces community need more Abi Warburtons in my opinion, as the empathy and passion that she has is second to none."

The Veteran Advice Service can be contacted from Monday to Friday between 8.30am and 5pm by calling 07725 704655 or emailing veteranService@valeofglamorgan.gov.uk. Drop-in sessions are also held at local libraries in Barry, Penarth, Llantwit Major, Cowbridge, Sully, Wenvoe, St Athan, Rhoose and Dinas Powys.

Bro Radio says 'Shwmae!' to all Welsh learners

THE Vale Council's Learn Welsh department have collaborated with Bro Radio to launch a new Welsh language podcast.

'Shwmae' will be hosted by Vale Breakfast presenter, Gareth Knight, and is aimed at engaging new and existing Welsh language learners.

Complete beginners will be able to pick up conversational Welsh, as well as providing more advanced learners with the opportunity to practice their Welsh outside of the classroom. It will also encourage those who are unable to attend weekly classes to have a go at learning.

Vale Council director of learning and skills, Paula Ham, said: "This is a positive incentive to encourage more people be a part of the growing number of Welsh language speakers and learners. Without a doubt, it is projects like these which will help cultivate a thriving Welsh language community of the future."

At the beginning of 2019, Bro Radio pledged to broadcast a series of weekly and monthly podcasts, covering a range of topics including sport, history, mental health, the local community and the Welsh language.

Nathan Spackman, operations director at Bro Radio said: "The podcast is a great opportunity for Bro Radio to continue to develop its Welsh language content, alongside our existing Welsh Show which airs each Tuesday night from 9pm.

"As a non-Welsh speaker, I really enjoyed listening to the first two podcasts over the bank holiday weekend and I hope others will enjoy learning from them too."

Each podcast is around 12 minutes long and is broadcast weekly. It is completely free to download or listen to from Bro Radio's website.

Vale students selected for Yale and Harvard summer programmes

FOUR year-12 pupils from the Vale have been selected to take part in summer school programmes at prestigious universities, Harvard and Yale.

Jamie Bailey is one of two from St Cyres who will be attending, along with Morgan Gamer of Llantwit Major and Stanwell's Emma Monaghan.

The initiative comes from the WG Seren Network, which consists of 11 hubs across Wales. The Hubs provide the brightest students in Wales with information, guidance and support to raise aspirations to apply to top Universities in the UK and globally.

As part of the Seren Network, partnerships have been established to offer opportunities for Welsh pupils to take part in summer schemes at top universities overseas.

Among these is the Yale Young Global Scholars (YYGS) Program at Yale University, a summer academic enrichment and leadership program for high schoolers from around the world and the Harvard Summer School Pre-College Program at Harvard University, an immersive, collaborative, and transformative residential experience.

This year, the Seren Network will aim to support 53 young people attending either the Yale or Harvard programmes, which will be co-funded by the Welsh Government.

Seren students wishing to apply for the scheme must be in year-12 and have achieved a minimum of 5 A* at GCSE.

The Vale Council director of learning and skills, Paula Ham, said: "The partnerships established are a huge success story for both the Seren Network and the students involved. With access to these programmes, they will be exposed to a wealth of experiences, invaluable to their academic development. I wish them the best of luck over the summer."

Jamie Bailey of St Cyres School said: "I feel very privileged and grateful to have been selected for the programme. The application process was very demanding,but definitely worthwhile! I cannot wait to meet lots of new people. I am very thankful to be given such an incredible opportunity."

Handsome Jamie is looking for a home

Jamie with Becky from Dog's Trust.

JAMIE is a four-year-old French Bulldog who is a handsome little dog who enjoys running in the field and exploring, and he is Bridgend Dogs Trust's 'Dog of the Week'.

He is looking for a committed owner who can continue with his training needs. He does mix with dogs but prefers calmer, female dogs of a similar size. Jamie can be a little worried with over handling, so owners will need to take things slow with him. Once he trusts you, he loves to shower you with lots of kisses.

Jamie will need a quiet, experienced adult-only home. He is very food and toy oriented, which will help with his training. Potential owners will need to live relatively close to the centre so that multiple visits can be made to help with his training.

Assistant manager Becky said: "Jamie is a charming boy who is going to be a star in his new home."

You can see his video at: www.dogstrust.org.uk/rehoming/dogs/dog/filters/bri~~~~~n~/1217900/jamie.

For more information on Jamie, visit the Dogs Trust Rehoming Centre in Bridgend, CF31 4NG, call 01656 725219 or visit www.dogstrust.org.uk.

On Your Bike for Barnardo's proves to be a family affair

Dad Gethin Thomas with Seren, five, mum Kate Thomas, Elen Thomas, seven and grandfather Edwin Brewer with their medals.

The first riders across the line were Craig Francis, Mark Litchfield and Rustin Edmunds.

THREE generations of the same family were among 120 cyclists who took part in this year's On Your Bike for Barnardo's cycle ride.

Organisers of the fundraising event were delighted with both its success and the perfect weather as the last attempt to run it in the autumn was scuppered by one of the biggest storms of the year.

On Your Bike for Barnardo's, which was founded back in 1982, had real family appeal this year as a six-mile family run took place in Cardiff Bay in addition to a 35-mile route from the Bay and through the Vale of Glamorgan.

Grandfather Edwin Brewer, 65 of Bridgend, took part in the longer route and was delighted that his daughter and son-in-law Kate and Gethin Thomas of Cardiff were able to join the family ride, with their daughters Elen, seven, and Seren, five.

Edwin, who runs his own cycle repair business said: "It was a great day. The route through the Vale was a lovely one and the weather perfect. I've taken part five or six times but it was great to see the whole family in it this year."

First across the line were Craig Francis of Porthcawl and Rustin Edmunds of Bridgend who remembered each other from their school days at Bryntirion Comprehensive 30 years ago, but had never cycled together before.

Craig said: "It was great to meet up and it was a lovely route with lots of time away from traffic."

The money raised from On Your Bike will go towards supporting the work of Barnardo's Cymru which works with some of the most vulnerable children, young people and families in Wales.

Could you be an RWAS agricultural ambassador?

ON May 12, the Vale area of the Glamorgan Royal Welsh Agricultural Society committee held a wonderful afternoon fundraiser in the form of a Mad Hatters Tea Party recently.

The event was well supported at Rosedew, Llantwit Major, where a feast of delectable delights were served and a huge thank you goes to the Davies family for the perfect venue.

The committee is now looking for an ambassador for their feature year in 2021 who can be male or female, living in the county of Glamorgan, under the age of 35, possessing energy and drive to undertake the voluntary role and attend meetings and events at county and society level.

The ideal candidate needs to be charismatic and have natural interpersonal skills, being happy to work within the RWAS business and marketing team to help promote and educate on agriculture.

Anyone interested in this honorary role should see the link on the society website or contact secretary Charlotte Thomas at glamorganrwas@gmail.com for an application form. The closing date is May 31, 2019.

New road safety investment schemes to be launched in Vale

Cllr John Thomas with instructors and pupils at High Street Primary School.

CLLR John Thomas, the Leader of the Vale Council, visited High Street School in Barry for the launch of a road safety scheme that will provide investment in a number of projects across the county.

Welsh Government funding has been secured for initiatives that involve making safety upgrades to certain routes and improving safety among road users through training.

In total, eight initiatives will be launched in the Vale which include two road improvement projects in Barry and another in Llandow, as well as Vale-wide training courses for drivers, cyclists and motorcyclists.

Cardiff Road in Barry, between Green Lane and Biglis roundabout, will have its speed limit reduced to 40mph, vehicle-activated speed warning signs installed and high-friction surfacing introduced at bends.

Work on the road from Floodgate Roundabout to Nash Corner in Llandow will include the extension of edge of carriageway markings and the creation of a 750 metre central hatched area.

A route in Barry that extends along Porthkerry, Romilly and Windsor Roads and passes a number of schools will benefit from better pedestrian crossing opportunities.

In addition, there will be child pedestrian training for five to seven-year-olds in the Vale, helping them stay safe around roads, and cycle training for year six pupils.

Pre-driver education courses will be on offer to those aged 16 and over, providing the opportunity to develop safe behaviours before getting behind the wheel.

The post-test motorbike training available adds another safety level to those who have recently passed their test, as does the Pass Plus Cymru scheme for new drivers.

Cllr Thomas said: "This is a fantastic initiative that will have benefits throughout the Vale, making travel routes in the county safer."

Passengers in Penarth are the first to trial TfW's new Smartcard

Jan Palmer, registered nurse day therapy at Marie Curie Hospice, Sarah Lloyd-Davies – Marie Curie Hospice manager and Richard Martin – TfW Rail Services station manager Valleys South.

PASSENGERS travelling from Penarth to Cardiff will be the first to test the Transport for Wales Rail Services' (TfW) new Smartcard, a more durable and easier alternative to paper tickets.

The TfW Rail Services Smartcard is available to weekly season ticket holders and is free via the TfW Rail Services website. The Smartcard provides extra security as it can be cancelled or blocked at any time through the TfW Rail Services website or app and will not de-magnetise if accidentally placed next to a smartphone. With the Smartcard, passengers will be able to load their weekly season ticket onto it.

TfW Rail Services has also announced that it will be donating £1,000 to Marie Curie Hospice in Penarth when the pilot surpasses the first 500 sign-ups.

For more information about TfW, and how to purchase tickets, visit tfwrail.wales, a ticket office or download the TfW Rail app.

Sully company enjoys success at the UK Roofing Awards

CAMILLERI Roofing, based in Sully, has maintained its reputation for high quality work by securing their 10th national roofing accolade at this year's UK Roofing Awards.

The UK Roofing Awards is an industry-wide event that recognises and rewards outstanding standards of workmanship and safety within the UK roofing industry.

The event was held in London on May 10, when property expert Sarah Beeny presented Camilleri Roofing's Simon Bailey with the Roof Slating award in recognition of their work on the grade II listed BSK Building at Clifton College in Bristol which featured duo-pitch roofs with distinctive ornamental alternating bands, replicating the original design from 1862.

The project adds to Camilleri Roofing's impressive portfolio of historic buildings and includes Cardiff Bay's iconic Pierhead Building, for which they won the same award in 2006.

A spokesman from Nichols Brown Webber Architects said: "As it was such a large expanse of roof, the slate played a massive part in the project and the results are beautiful and dramatic."

News from the Fonmon Apiary, with Harold Williams

DESPITE a weather pattern that is described as unsettled the bees are making some progress. In fact, my attempts to handle the rapid expansion of all of the colonies has not been too successful: three of them have swarmed.

While swarming causes some beekeepers to gnash their teeth because of the loss of bees, it has to be recognised that the swarming impulse is a natural part of a honeybee's lifecycle. It is, after all how the species ensures its survival: what was one colony now has become two colonies.

When a swarm departs it is the reigning queen (old queen) that leaves and takes with her a good number of the hive's population, up to some 30,000 members in fact. This is no aimless departure; 'scout bees' have already selected several sites that might suit their requirements, and eventually a consensus is arrived at within the swarm and with a decision made – off they go.

Why does a swarm stop and hang in a large ball before final departure? The answer is that a queen bee is not designed for flying. She has to take frequent rests, her job within the colony is that of an egg layer and the only time she takes to the wing is to depart with a swarm, or when she was a young queen to go out and be mated (mating is done on the wing).

The hive from which the swarm departs will eventually produce a new queen. This young queen, once mated, will give out a chemical signal (pheremone) to let the colony members know that she is now able to commence her egg laying duties and thus repopulate the hive.

All in all, for the bees, the whole process has been a success. As for the beekeeper, let's hope that he/she has gained an insight into the world of the honeybee.

The downside, if there is a downside, is that the beekeeper's hopes of a honey crop may be delayed because the departing bees took with them a good portion of the colony's stores to give themselves a few days' grace while they begin the making of a new home.

Lynette goes the extra mile for children's charity

A COWBRIDGE woman has spoken about how she turned her dream into a reality after successfully completing the 2019 London Marathon last month.

Lynette Hartman.

Lynette Hartman, who works as a receptionist at Tŷ Llandaff, a private care home offering nursing, residential and respite care in Pontcanna, finished the race in a time of 6.01 hours and also smashed her fundraising target of £1,500 by 140 per cent.

The 62-year-old joined the 42,906 runners in London on April 28, raising a huge £2,119 for her chosen charity, Children with Cancer UK.

Lynette, who is relatively new to running, was inspired to run the marathon by her son, Matthew (34), who ran three years ago and decided that if she did not run this year, she might never do it.

Lynette said: "The race was really tough but I was determined to get to the end. It was hard, I felt absolutely dreadful afterwards and the next day was hard too, but I can feel my legs again now!"

As a family and child-focused person, a volunteer for children's charity Homestart and grandmother to eight-month-old Oscar, Lynette's chosen charity suited her down to the ground.

She said, "I am thrilled to have raised so much for Children with Cancer UK. It's such an important cause and I'm so grateful to everyone who sponsored me."

Melanie Geoghegan, activities co-ordinator at Tŷ Llandaff, where Lynette is one of the longest serving members of staff, said: "Lynette is such an inspiration and we are so thrilled for her that she completed this impressive feat. We were all watching the marathon on TV here and enjoyed cheering her on!"

Out & About with The GEM

This Hustle lacks tricks in so-so comedy...

CHRIS Addison has come a long way from Mock The Week. The comedian's work with Armando Iannucci in The Thick Of It has led to his involvement in Iannucci's American political satire Veep, in which Addison has directed several episodes.

Now he makes the step up to the big screen in The Hustle, a loose remake of the Steve Martin and Michael Caine-starring Dirty Rotten Scoundrels (which itself was a loose remake of 1964's Bedtime Story with Marlon Brando and David Niven, fact fans).

It stars Anne Hathaway and Rebel Wilson as two female con artists, the brash Lonnie (Wilson) and the cunning Josephine (Hathaway). The pair join forces in the south of France to con men who have wronged women, but what happens when the pair find themselves squeezed and under pressure from a tech billionaire (played by Alex Sharp) who latches onto their schemes..?

The Hustle certainly isn't lacking in pedigree; Rebel Wilson has proven to be a comedic tour de force in many of her films, Anne Hathaway may have erred more on the side of drama in recent years but she's perfectly adept at exercising her funny bone, while Chris Addison's work on Veep has shown he has the directorial chops to handle comedy.

So how come The Hustle ultimately winds up feeling largely flat and boring, despite the talent on show?

Well, there are a few moments that will raise a laugh, but in the main this is one of those films where it seems like the cast and crew are having a good time making it, but it fails to translate to the screen.

It's a very clunky film, one where every narrative turn feels forced and pushed into position rather than flowing naturally; if the script didn't feel so contrived at every turn, it would have been a far more smooth runner, yet as it is, while cribbing elements from both films it's based on, it doesn't have the finesse nor the assured feel that it should have.

Neither Wilson nor Hathaway disgrace themselves, but while the latter does a cut glass British accent and shows a keen comedic eye, the former's performance tends to trade too heavily on the sort of roles she's played before, and here, in large doses, there are times when you wish she would tone it down or play against type rather than hitting the familiar notes.

The pair share a sparky interplay with each other, and the rest of the cast are all fine without being stretched, from Ingrid Oliver's French policewoman and Nicholas Woodeson's silent but deadly butler to Alex Sharp's well-meaning but naive billionaire who becomes embroiled in Penny and Josephine's competition.

SCREEN TALK with GARETH JAMIESON

Follow Screen Talk on Twitter - @ GEMScreenTalk

Chris Addison's lack of big screen experience may shine through at times but he does at least move things along pretty swiftly and shows a good eye for a comedic set-piece. There are times where he shows his naivety, but he certainly shows enough promise based on the evidence here.

It's just a shame that things don't coalesce into something more enjoyable and humorous than what we are served. The talent on show is undeniable, the quality of the film far less so. The Hustle may hook you, but you'd have to be pretty unforgiving to let it con you into thinking it was anything more than a perfunctory, run-of-the-mill comedy.

VERDICT: The con is on, but unfortunately The Hustle isn't able to see things through. While it's welcoming to see a film of this ilk led by two female actors, it's a shame that the fun they obviously had on set doesn't translate to the film itself. Neither Rebel Wilson nor Anne Hathaway hit many bum notes, and Chris Addison's direction shows promise, but while largely inoffensive, this isn't a great film by any stretch. Average.

SEE THIS IF YOU LIKED: Dirty Rotten Scoundrels (1988), Oceans 8 (2018).

Two walks among the bluebells for the Penarth & District Ramblers

PENARTH and District Ramblers recently celebrated a bluebell-filled weekend with two walks, the first from Rachel when she was joined at Rhiwderin by a group of seven walkers.

Setting off by road through the village, they were soon surrounded by a variety of spring flowers. Joining the Sirhowy Valley Walk across Fox Hill and into Coed Mawr, where tree felling is abundant, a steep climb from Lower Ochrwyth to Upper Ochrwyth brought them to a problem area with broken stiles and blocked paths.

Undeterred, they travelled past Castle Farm, home to retired donkeys. A leaf-strewn track brought them uphill to a disused quarry for morning break before moving on past cleared land carpeted with native bluebells.

Following the Raven Walk with wonderful views to Twmbarlwm, Abercarn and the Ebbw Valley, a long steep climb in a cold stiff breeze led them to the summit of Mynydd Margam, with stunning views to the central Beacons, Penarth Head, Flat and Steep Holm and the Somerset coastline.

Joining the Rhymney Valley Ridgeway Walk with orange tipped butterflies for company, they diverted to the remains of Castell Meredydd, which overlooks the Rhymney Valley, before fields led them to Graig Wyllt, up steep wooden steps where a bluebell-coated woodland set on the steep hillside brought them back into fields for the trek back to Rhiwderin.

The following day, a group of 13 walkers joined Joy at the historic town of Monmouth and they set off along the sun-filled banks of the River Wye, complete with rowers from nearby Monmouth Rowing Club crossing bridges to reach Dixton.

Inside the white painted church dedicated to St Peter are brass plates, marking the heights of memorable floods, because it is close to the river.

Dashing across the busy A40, a climb by road brought them to Newton Court, once home to the Griffin family, followed by a climb on a sunken lane at Hayes Coppice for morning break surrounded by sweet smelling bluebells in Joint Wood.

A narrow path through the growing crops led them downhill to St Mary the Virgin Church at Welsh Newton for lunch, with only birdsong breaking the peace. After viewing its impressive stained glass windows and stunning carved stone rood screen, they walked across cropped fields and a quiet lane to Buckholt Woods, before descending through fields with a last look at the impressive Black Mountains.

On May 18, meet at 9am at Cogan Leisure Centre for an 8.5-mile moderate walk at Rhossili (no dogs, please); contact Clive on 029 2065 4156.

ADVERTORIAL

The ideal solution for your conservatory

FUTURE Ideal Homes Ltd have been installing Futures Guardian Warm Roof System to existing conservatories for many years now, and have an endless list of happy customers.

By installing a thermally efficient Guardian roof you'll be creating a comfortable, practical room that was once too cold to go in during winter, and too hot to sit in over the summer.

Why not make use of that extra space by turning it into a room that can be used all-year-round no matter what the season is? Some of our customers have used it for a dining room, giving them extra space to use in their kitchen: the options are endless.

Utilising your existing space not only saves money, but can also change the way you live and that's why at Future Ideal Homes Ltd, we only sell products that we believe will make this happen.

We would like to thank everyone for their kind messages of support and donations following the sad loss of 'our Tom'. Particularly the team at Llandougth Hospital for their care and dedication at such a difficult time. To Robert Johnson for giving Tom a most dignified farewell, the Reverend John James for the service and Helen at Beautiful Lily Florist.

Also, the dedicate carers who looked after both Tom and Kerry throughout their lives and to the many people who attended the chapel, especially those who travelled many miles to say their goodbyes. It was really very humbling.

Thank you all so very much.

Vale Cricket Club firsts and seconds round-up

ON a day where the sun beamed down at our humble dwellings in Corntown, Vale Cricket Club Firsts entertained recently relegated Barry Athletic in their South East Wales Cricket League Division Three encounter.

After winning the toss, Brendan McCay elected to bowl, showing full confidence in his bowlers' ability to claim another 10 wickets as they did last week against Monkswood in the season's opener.

Opening bowlers Darren Upham and Joe Hodges went about attacking Barry's opening partnership. It was Jimbo Thomas who broke the deadlock early on as he combined with keeper and vice-captain Harry Withers to run out H Smith, who failed to trouble the scorers.

N Baker (9) and L Morgan (25) set about trying to build Barry's innings but the ever-present Darren Upham (1-24) took Baker's wicket, bringing Barry's newly-acquired all-rounder L Smith to the crease with the score at 16-2.

He punished any stray bowling and even hit good deliveries for runs but was bogged down a lot of the time by good, straight bowling.

However, Smith and Morgan's stubbornness left the likes of Joe Hodges and Alex Upham wicketless, which is not an easy task by any means. The dynamic duo are accustomed to their respective pace and leg spin bowling damaging sides to devastating effect but today was not to be a wicket-taking day for the pair.

With two of their front line bowlers failing to take a single wicket, it was the introduction of Dean Oram that saw Smith (51) caught at mid-off by James Snelson and from there Vale set about punishing their visitors.

L Morgan continued to play patiently but scoring at a slow rate as he went about anchoring the Barry innings.

Before his own dismissal he had to watch his captain A Baker (12) become Oram's second wicket as he was caught at mid-wicket by Sean Rowland and then he was bowled by the Vale all-rounder, leaving Oram with figures of 3-25.

With the score at 111-5 Barry succumbed to an unfortunate collapse, ending 143 all out. The final five wickets were taken by leg spinner Jimbo Thomas and seamer Sean Rowland. The small but mighty leg spin of Jimbo (3-9) claimed three of the final five wickets that included catches taken by Joe Hodges and Darren Upham, as well as a sharp stumping from wicket-keeper Harry Withers.

Sean Rowland joined the wicket-taking, with thanks to Steve Hiles whose well-taken catch at extra cover removed W Baker (13), the last Barry batsman to score any runs. Rowland then made a mess of the stumps as he clean bowled the final wicket of the innings, leaving him with impressive figures of 2-2.

After tea, Vale set about chasing a target of 144 to win from their allotted 45 overs. Barry opening bowler Gee (1-19), took the first wicket and was the pick of the Barry attack, catching JP Davies off his own bowling before Davies could get off the mark.

Oram (33) and Alex Upham (37) shared a partnership of 65 before Oram was bowled by L Smith as he went back to defend one instead of stepping forward. Smith (3-46,) the most expensive of the Barry bowlers removed Snelson lbw and then bowled Vale opener Upham. As Upham departed the scoreboard displayed 97-4.

The loss of batsman Steve Hiles added pressure to Vale but in his second game as captain, Brendan McCay (19no) and Joe Hodges (31no) took Vale home as they played the fiery pace of Smith with patience and precision with a plethora of well-timed aggressive boundary hitting shots, carefully-placed guides and solid defence.

Vale ended up with 144-5, ensuring that victory was sealed and they remain firmly at the top of the table as they travel to Tondu this week.

In preparation they train again on Thursday night and welcome any prospective new members to join them.

On a glorious day to be beside the seaside, Vale seconds captain Matthew Thomas won the toss and elected to bat against Barry Athletic Seconds.

Confident of his side's ability to score the runs needed, not only to secure maximum batting points but also to make the game difficult for Barry to chase, Thomas (64) led the innings remarkably well.

Captain Thomas and Matthew Gilbert (59) stroked the ball to the boundary with relative ease in an opening partnership that amassed 126 before the Vale captain was bowled.

Gilbert was to be the next victim as he departed the crease with the total at 160-2. Both Gilbert and Thomas will be pleased to add their run tally, with both players hitting half centuries and setting the platform for their teammates to kick on from.

Clewley (19), vice-captain Francis (11) and Paul Sheppard (12no) all added a few extra runs to the total, taking Vale to 233-7 at the close of the innings.

After tea, Vale looked to back up their fine batting display with equally excellent bowling and fielding. Having resisted the lure of beach front candy floss, the Vale opening pair of McCutcheon (1-45) and Andrews (0-21) made life difficult for the bowlers early on as the opening pair of Chaturvedi (22) and Gunesekera (35) set about the chase.

The introduction of Matthew Williams (3-27) proved to be valuable as he removed both of Barry's opening batsmen with McCutcheon taking Barry's number three, Perera (28). With the exception of Usswald (36) no other Barry batsmen stayed around long enough to make a significant impact.

Last season's second team bowler of the year Tom Lazarus (1-24) and left arm spinner Tom Taylor (2-22) took five middle to lower order wickets between them with Matthew Gilbert rounding off a fine game for himself taking 3-23 from almost 3 overs.

Vale Seconds are now top of their table by a single point as they carry on with their winning run from last season.

This week they entertain Ton Pentre first XI at their home ground in Corntown, hoping to make it three wins in three games.

Crowds turn out for point-to-point meeting

ALL PICTURES BY GLYN EVANS.

WELSH champion point-to-point rider Bradley Gibbs gave himself a birthday present by riding three winners at the Ystrad Taf Fechan Point-To-Point Steeplechases at Bonvilston where just 27 horses faced the starter during the afternoon.

Bradley, who celebrated his 25th birthday 24 hours later, won the opening club Members' Conditions Race on Highway Jewel, the restricted on Rio Bravo and the John Lovell National Men's Open on Yeats Ace and all three were long odds-on favourites.

The five-year-old mare Highway Jewel finished alone after sole rival Union Jack D'Ycy had unshipped Scot Malson at the sixth fence on the first circuit.

Rio Bravo, an eight-year-old bay gelding owned by Bradley's fiance Claire Sherriff, made all to win by a distance from BlueBell Sally and Yeats Ace, a seven-year-old bay mare by Yeats, owned by Carol and Clive Banwell, won in similiar style by a distance from the Byron Moorcroft-partnered Beneficial Joe, who was awarded the Best Turned Out award.

However, the day's riding honours went to Matthew Barber, 27, who, riding Isla Di Milano in the Open Maiden Race, worked wonders to get his mount home by a neck from the Morgan Winstone-partnered Full Of Roque.

Isla Di Milano, which gave Matthew his 50th winner between-the-flags, apart from almost slipping up and making a number of jumping errors, came from last to first to give his trainer, former National Hunt jockey Bridgend's Rhys Flint, his first win as a trainer with just his second runner.

Flint was full of praise for his rider saying: "That must be the ride of Matthew's career."

In a match for the Ladies' Open Race, Kevin Salter's 11-year-old bay gelding Spencer Moon, under Jodie Hughes, chalked-up win number 12 when making all the running to beat Golden Crisp partnered by Rilly Goshen: "This horse is awesome'," said Jodie, who was partnering the son of Dr Massini for the first time.

Both pony races were won by Edward Vaughan, 11-year-old son of Tim Vaughan, who trains at nearby Aberthin.

Edward won the first race on Little Replacement which came home ahead of Stretcholt Hermes (Jack Osborne) and Pennway Angharad (Evan Hughes), and in the second race riding the best turned out White Water, Edmund came home ahead of Heavenly Rose (Henry Pugh) and Don't Tell Dai (Talor Hopkins).

Cowbridge RFC youth lift the Blues Cup!

LAST Saturday on Cardiff Arms Park, Cowbridge RFC youth finished off their very successful season with a brilliant win over St Peter's youth in the Blues Youth Cup final.

This win means Cowbridge youth have now won this cup for the past four years.

With a large number of the squad only returning from Japan on Wednesday, where they represented Wales playing for CAVC, there was no time for preparation for the final.

In Fukuoka, Japan, the Sanix World Rugby Youth Invitational Tournament is held every year, teams participate by invitation only, and are chosen because of their high standard.

Despite the unusual preparation it was Cowbridge who started the stronger, pinning St Peter's inside their own 22 for the first 10 minutes. St Peter's were being constantly penalised as they struggled to cope with Cowbridge's intensity.

Following a scrum 20 metres short of the St Peter's line, Ed Thomas made a searing break through the St Peter's midfield.

The covering St Peters' wing brought Ed down with a high tackle, resulting in another Cowbridge penalty and a yellow card for the St Peter's winger.

Cowbridge were feeling confident and opted for the scrum. From that scrum, Ioan Williams, the Cowbridge scrum half made a break down the blindside. With his back row at his side to enable quick ball, Benji Williams powered himself over the line from five metres out. Rhydian Williams converted.

Cowbridge struggled to clear their lines from the resulting kick off and gave away a silly penalty by talking back to the referee. St Peter's took the easy three points on offer.

This penalty gave St Peter's confidence, and they forced Cowbridge into a defensive effort for the next 10 minutes. St Peter's bigger pack picked up the ball five metres from the Cowbridge line and battered the Cowbridge defence.

The boys dug deep and produced a heroic defensive effort as they have done all season. Jack Forsyth and Max Lucas held up the St Peter's number 8 while he was over the line, but the referee judged the boys to have been offside. Once again St Peter's took the three points.

Cowbridge responded well and forced St Peter's back inside their own 22. St Peter's managed to clear their lines, but failed to find touch with their kick and it was collected by Ed Thomas who gathered the bouncing ball at pace and broke through the first line of defence.

Gathering pace, he side stepped the covering defence and with the line in sight he was brought down just short. Williams gathered the ball at the breakdown and passed to Ben Jones, the Cowbridge openside flanker who noticed the covering defence was totally focussed on the speedster Jake Thomas on his left hand side. He saw his chance and with a burst of pace scored Cowbridge's second try of the game without a hand being laid on him. Rhydian Williams converted.

The half time score was Cowbridge youth 14, St Peter's youth 6.

Once again straight from the half time kick off, Cowbridge failed to clear the ball and gave away another silly penalty, St Peter's took the three points on offer again.

Cowbridge began to play some controlled rugby, going through the phases before releasing their speedy backs.

The forwards were now in control of the much bigger St Peter's pack. Barny Langton-Cryer, the Cowbridge captain and Elis Reed, the Number 8, played leaders' roles. Both carried the ball many times during the game, making the hard yards needed for the backs to run their moves.

Following an unusual Cowbridge rolling maul, Jared Williams, the impressive Cowbridge prop, was held up over the line. From the resulting five metre scrum, Williams got his backs moving.

Evan Thomas at outside half, dummied Jake Thomas and made a deft pass to put Jack Dixon, who had come in from his left wing to score under the posts. Rhydian Williams converted.

With the game entering its final stages, St Peter's began to throw everything at the Cowbridge pack but once again the boys held their line.

The coaches made some changes allowing the bench to make a difference. All seven replacements made an impact, with Scott Jones performing a heroic tackle on his much larger opposite number.

From a line out just inside the Cowbridge 22, Iestyn Galton stole the St Peter's throw-in. Evan Thomas executed a clever chip kick over the onrushing St Peter's defence.

Dan Stancombe, the Cowbridge inside centre, gathered the bouncing ball and made it to the St Peter's 22.

With quick ball, Williams put Jake Thomas clear to score his well deserved try and Cowbridge's fourth of the game. Rhydian Williams completed a perfect kicking day with his fourth conversion out of four. These eight extra points make an enormous difference in tight final games.

With minutes left on the clock, Cowbridge suffered their usual yellow card, and were down to 14 as St Peter's finally crossed the Cowbridge line.

The final score was Cowbridge youth 28, St Peter's youth 14.

Finishing in our highest position of third in the Blues Premiership and defending the Blues Cup ends another successful season for the youth.

With so many players available next year and the under-16s joining we look forward to next season.

Tennis club opens its courts to local community

AS part of the May Day bank holiday celebrations, Cowbridge Tennis Club had its four courts bustling with activity, showing the benefits of tennis for fitness and fun. The open day supported the Cowbridge and Llantwit Major Lions fair.

Throughout the day, the tennis coaches ran junior activities as well as cardio tennis where more than 40 adults and young people got involved.

Towards the end of the day, the club presented its longest-standing coach, Allan Duggan, with a lifetime membership due to his commitment and dedication to the club.

The club's chair, Richard Owen said: "Allan is the heart and soul of the club. He had a successful national and British tennis career, bringing this knowledge and passion to the club through his coaching for so many years.

"We were delighted to welcome the community to the club over the bank holiday weekend, it was fantastic to see so many people come and join us to get involved. Hopefully we will see more people join us for junior club or adult coaching too, as it's great to see new faces."

The tennis club also offers pay to play options for the community, so there's no need for membership. For more information, visit clubspark.lta/cowbridgetennisclub

Competition ramps up at Atlantic Championships

THE eyes of the bowling world continue to focus on the Vale this week as some of the best bowlers in the world visit Barry to compete in the 2019 Atlantic Championships.

Featuring over 200 players from 26 countries, play will continue daily at Barry Island until Wednesday, May 22.

Barry Athletic is co-hosting the 12-day event with a full 10 days of play at Barry Island. The matches begin as early as 8.15am on many days, with evening matches starting at 6pm.

On Saturday, May 11, both Wales men and women competed in the Barry Island sunshine.

The Welsh men triples were disappointed to lose on the last end to a talented Jersey team, but recovered after lunch to convincingly defeat Botswana. Sara Marie Nicholls of Llandeilo is representing Wales in the singles competition and she was looking in good form, hoping to qualify automatically for the next round.

The sunshine continued and the colour of modern bowls was brought to the full by the South American visitors when Argentina, after defeating the much fancied English team, did a lap of honour with their national flag, to great applause from the spectators.

Not to be outdone by their near neighbours, Brazil have caught many eyes with their striking match shirts and shorts. Zimbabwe also came dressed for the occasion, ready for all weathers.

Play continues at Barry Island and national interest will peak on Friday, May 17, with Wales competing in all five sessions in the men's singles and ladies triples.

Commonwealth gold medallist and local boy Dan Salmon will feature for Wales in the singles. Sunday is a full day with Wales men's rink and ladies pairs both playing.

The highlight on Saturday will be the appearance of the Tartan Army big hitters of World and Commonwealth champion bowlers Alex Marshall, Paul Foster, Derek Oliver and Ronnie Duncan representing Scotland in the fours competition.

Play starts at 8.30am (v Jamaica), and 2pm (v Brazil). Ireland, England and South Africa also compete at Barry Island that day.

Daily play continues at Barry, culminating with the semi-finals of the men's fours and ladies pairs on Wednesday, May 22 (2.30pm start).

Barry Athletic Bowls Club has hosted many international matches in its 108 year history, but possibly never anything on this scale, and members of the public are encouraged to come along and see this unique spectacle at close hand.

Full playing schedule and more information can be found on the Welsh Bowls website welshbowls.co.uk.

On and Off The Turf with Brian Lee

OGMORE-BY-SEA'S Christian Williams has been on a winning streak of late and at Fakenham on Tuesday, his Butlergrove King landed the Snellings Handicap Chase under Adam Wedge.

A 4-1 chance, the top-weighted 10-year-old won by a length from Kingston Mimosa. Earlier, Connor Brace from Porthcawl won the Jarrold Ladies Day Conditional Jockeys' Selling Hurdle on the Richard Spencer-trained Movie Set.

There was more Welsh success when Daniel Bourne's 11-year-old ASockAStar landed the Turner Trophy Hunters' Chase under Shane Quinlan.

ISABEL'S GELLIGAER WINNER

Llancarfan's Isabel Williams, who is making a bold bid to retain her Welsh Lady Riders Championship title, chalked-up her fifth winner of the season at the Gelligaer Farmers Hunt Point-To-Point Steeplechases at picturesque Lower Machen on Saturday, and in doing so beat her chief rival Pembrokeshire's Jodie Hughes.

In an exciting finish to the young horse maiden race, in which four of the nine runners were all in with a chance two fences from the winning post, Isabel, 21, riding the four-year-old ex-Irish horse Flash Klass, got her mount home by a length from the Jodie Hughes-partnered MoreHurryLessHaste.

Flash Klass is owned by Bridgend builder Roger Willcox and William Corrigan the heavy fabrication specialist, and Mr Willcox, who admitted to having backed his horse, said: "We bought him from Ogmore By-Sea trainer Christian Williams and he's a lovely horse to train.

"However, I had a job getting him here this as he didn't want to go in the horse box."

Ben Jones, who has been in cracking form this season, won the mixed open on the Karen Hobbs-trained Princely Player and the restricted aboard the Amber Mathias-trained Ardview Boy.

Princely Player, at 12 the oldest of the five runners and in a handy position throughout, won by three lengths from King's Cross and was recording his third win on the bounce.

"He sulked and made hard work of it," said Ben, who had an easier ride on Ardview Boy, who always in command and came home 12 lengths ahead of the Bradley Gibbs-partnered Five Gold Bars.

Three of the four entries for the members' race faced the starter and the blinkered Holy Way was made the odds-on favourite. However, James King had the 11-year-old Ruperra Tom in a handy position throughout and went on to win by one-and-a-half lengths.

Ruperra Tom, owned by John Rees and Tim Jones, is trained by Pembrokeshire's Michael Bowen.

Merthyr Mawr's Jack Tudor landed the three-horse confined race on Desert Row after the odds-on favourite The Girl From Milan, who had tried to make every post a winning one, was pulled-up after jumping the 11th fence.

Matthew Barber, riding the well-backed Where Now, ran out a three lengths winner of the aged maiden race finishing ahead of Buck's Best. He said: "We bought the horse from Christian Williams seven weeks ago. He's a lovely horse and ran green today but has had some niggly problems but I told all the lads to back him."

VALE TRAINERS' WEEKEND WINNERS

Merthyr Mawr's Jack Tudor just can't stop riding winners.

The 17 year-old whiz-kid, who has the national novice riders' title in his grasp, had a double at Sunday's Melton Hunt Club Point-To-Point at Garthorpe.

Jack took the club members' race on Philip Thomas's eight-year-old bay gelding Blazing Tom and the novice riders' race on Steve Young's 11-year-old bay gelding NorthGeorge.

Both winners are trained by Jack's father Jonathan, who has also had a cracking season.

Last Saturday, Vale trainer Evan Williams, who had won last year's Haydock Swinton Handicap Hurdle with Silver Streak, had to settle for third place this time as his John Constable, partnered by stable jockey Adam Wedge, was beaten by two 20-1 shots, Le Patriote and Project Bluebook, in a 17-runner field.

However, Evan was back in the winner's enclosure on Sunday after his seven-year-old Marble Moon landed the novices' handicap chase at Ludlow.

The bottom weighted Marble Moon, a 6-1 chance, won by six lengths from the well-fancied Heydour.

At Hexham on Saturday, Aberthin's Tim Vaughan landed the maiden hurdle with Eva's Oskar who scored by four-and-a-half lengths from Flemens Story, and Welsh jockey Connor Brace at Plumpton on Sunday won the handicap hurdle on 9-2 chance Alanjou.

DAVID'S DEVON WINNER

David Prichard, 27, who is assistant trainer to south Molton trainer Kayley Woolacott, landed the mixed open race on 14-1 outsider Earthly Reason at the Four Burrow Hunt Point-to-Point Steeplechases at Trebudannon last Sunday.

David, who hails from the Vale, has also ridden a winner on the Flat and at Arabian horse racing and like his sister Charly, who is living in France where she has ridden a number of winners,is a former successful pony racing competitor.

REBECCA'S LUDLOW WINNER

Pembrokeshire's Rebecca Curtis won the Open National Hunt Flat race at Ludlow last Sunday with her five-year-old Cubao who like the other seven runners in the race were racing in public for the first time.

Cubao must have been showing good speed on the gallops at home as it was made the 6-4 favourite.

Vale of Glamorgan Bridge Club results

THE latest results from the Vale of Glamorgan Bridge Club for May 13 are as follows:

Vale football finals conclude at Jenner Park

THERE was nother weekend of football finals in the Vale of Glamorgan Association Football League after an Easter break.

Just prior to the Easter break Island Marine FC Year 9 side won the Year 9 League with a 6-0 win over Cadoxton Barry FC on the Saturday prior to Easter.

On the Easter weekend, the final senior league trophy was settled with AFC Rhoose beating Vale Madrid FC 6-1 to be crowned Division 2 champions.

On to the final on April 28, where an overcast day saw recently-crowned league champions Island Marine FC taking on Cowbridge Town Reds for the Harry Gratton Cup in the Year 9 League.

An opening six minutes of entertaining football saw Cowbridge Town Reds take a two-goal lead but Island Marine FC pulled one back.

The game was back and forth with Cowbridge Town Reds restoring their two-goal lead on the half-hour mark. Island Marine kept fighting though and just before the half-time whistle, they reduced the deficit to one goal leaving the game poised.

The action in the second half continued to be an open and entertaining game with seemingly no more goals. But with 10 minutes remaining, a free kick to Island Marine FC resulted in a penalty after a handball in the box by the defensive wall.

The penalty was converted, which meant the score was tied at 3-3 giving the potential of extra-time. However with just three minutes left, Island Marine attacked once again and netted their fourth, taking the lead for the first time in the game. This was enough to make them league and cup double winners for 2018/19.

The afternoon saw brightening skies to welcome Penarth Town FC and Cowbridge Town FC for the Barry Cup.

A very tight game saw Penarth set out an attacking line while Cowbridge looked to counter them at every opportunity. Similar to the morning's game, the match was very tight but resulted in no goals in the first half.

The action continued in the second half with Penarth pushing and pushing and Cowbridge looking to defend and counter. As luck would have it, one such counter saw a Penarth error resulting in Cowbridge breaking and with only a one-on-one with the keeper to overcome, a deft chip gave Cowbridge the lead.

Penarth were not bowed and kept on looking for the equaliser but it never came.

As is traditional, in the Barry Cup a player is selected to received the Brian Riseborough Memorial Golden Boot for being man of the match: this year's recipient for his defensive display was Cowbridge Town FC's Ryan O'Halloran.

The Vale of Glamorgan Association Football League took centre stage for the South Wales Football Association Intermediate Cup Final between Holton Road FC and Tynewydd DC at the Kymco Stadium on May 4.

In a tight game, Holton Road became treble winners with a 2-0 win to lift the SWFA Intermediate Cup to go with the league and cup double.

May 5 closed the cup final period of the league beginning with the Year 7 final between Sully Sports Black and Cowbridge Town Reds.

Sully Sports Blacks took the lead with two early goals and maintained their lead to half time. Another quick succession of goals put Sully Sports Black firmly in the driving seat.

Towards the end Sully Sports Blacks were awarded a penalty which was gave them their fifth of the game. Cowbridge valiantly kept in the game and were kept from scoring by the goal keeper plus a defender with a goal line clearance.

In one of the last attacks of the game, Cowbridge Town Reds were awarded a penalty which was scored giving them their consolation goal, the final score 5-1.

Shortly after was the the Year 8 final which took place between Penarth Town Raiders and Cogan Coronation AFC.

Despite being goalless at half-time the game was shaping up to be a classic with the keepers heavily involved in the game to deny each side their goals.

The deadlock was broken 10 minutes into the second half with a deft lob over the Penarth keeper to give league champions Cogan Coronation AFC the lead.

However, Penarth were not to be beaten, scoring their equaliser within five minutes and a goal to take the lead a few minutes later. The second goal proved to be the goal required to secure the Billy Butlin Trophy along with the league runners-up trophy.

All clubs are reminded that the AGM for 2019 is on Monday, June 17 at 7pm at Barry Masonic Hall.

The League Council would like to congratulate all league and cup winners; commiserations to all runners-up, and thanks to all players in the senior, junior and mini sections for another season, as well as thanking all managers, coaches, football leaders, club officials, volunteers, supporters and referees for their dedication each weekend.

Barry club hosts an international bowls match

BARRY Romilly Bowling Club welcomed the Scotland (High Performance) Team and the South African National Team for a practice match on May 7, prior to their 14-day tournament in the Atlantic Championships, Cymru Wales 2019, which is played at various clubs in the area.

The South African team only arrived in the country the previous day.

Spokespersons for both teams thanked the club for affording them the courtesy of a practice match and complimented the club on the excellent condition of the green, considering it was very early in the bowling season and the adverse weather conditions the club had endured during the winter season.

Both teams thanked the members of Barry Romilly Bowling Club for the warm welcome they received.

Any seasoned bowlers or any newcomers interested in taking up bowls are invited to visit the club and contact Paul James, club secretary.

Kayne signed on 'two year' deal

BARRY Town United has announced that forward Kayne McLaggon has signed a new long-term contract.

Kayne joined the club in 2017 and quickly became a pivotal part of the squad. Since joining his hometown club Kayne has scored 30 goals in 69 appearances, finishing top goal scorer two seasons in a row.

Manager Gavin Chesterfield commented: "Kayne has been a key part of our team on and off the field having bought into a long-term vision on joining the club.

"He has matured and developed as a player very well with us and has brought much to the JD Welsh Premier League. I'm delighted to be working with Kayne for another two seasons."

New season in full swing at Wenvoe Castle Golf Club

THE kind weather continued at Wenvoe Castle Golf Club recently and both members and visitors were full of praise for the superb condition of the course.

The May bank holiday attracted a large entry for the popular Bowen Greenwood Mixed Competition and Jeff Hudd celebrated his birthday with his wife Lynda by winning the competition with an excellent score of 37 points.

Count back went into overdrive to separate the first four places, all with 37 points, and just missing out were runners up Cliff White and Karen Ball.

Club captain Lesley Sherrard presented the prizes and complimented all the competitors on the quality of golf and the green staff for the excellent presentation of the course.

The men's competitions on the weekends continue to attract large entries.

Robert Pike won the Saturday Stableford played on the bank holiday weekend with 38 points, just one ahead of five players, and Phillip Newton was declared runner up on countback.

A medal is always the ultimate challenge, and on the following day Craig Balchin produced an excellent net 69 to win by two strokes from Kevin Knowles. Stroke of the day went to Andy Evans, who holed out in one on the 200-yard par 3 15th hole and generously paid the price at the bar.

Last Saturday, the men entered the Welsh Team Handicap qualifier with the best four scores going on to represent the club later in the year. Justin Benham posted the top score of 40 points and will be joined by Ryan Cox, Chris Chalmers and Phillip Newton.

The Ladies Section held their championship qualifier with the top seven scores, together with defending champion Sian Smith, going on to the knockout stages held over the summer months. Jane Lott posted the best qualifying score with an excellent gross 91.

The Seniors Section recently held their regular Wednesday Stableford and Peter Rice played well to win with 40 points with Jeff Hudd continuing his good form as runner up with 38 points.

The club is delighted with the response to the recent new membership offers, particularly for young players up to the age of 35 and those who are new to golf. The new flexible membership is perfect for those wishing to join a club for the first time and for golfers of all abilities, but with more limited time to play.

Details can be found on the club website, wenvoecastlegolfclub.co.uk, or by contacting club secretary Nicola Manning on 02920 594371.

Fine win and weather for lady bowlers!

LLANTWIT Major Bowls Club's ladies started the season with a Cowbridge Shield match at Bridgend Municipal Bowls Club.

A lovely afternoon, long may it last, both the win and the weather! Joan, Ros, Carol and Etta got off to an excellent start, only giving away the lead on one end, winning 15-11.

Kay, Linda, Marilyn and Jean struggled for the first six ends but then only lost one end, winning 14-10. Well done Jean, skipping for the first time and only her second year. Although Bridgend won 10 of the 18 ends, Liz, Jenny, Julie and Dilys won comfortably 20-13, a nice 4 and 5 helped. Well done, ladies – full points for the first game.

With no game on Thursday, the ladies' next game was the following Tuesday at Pencoed.

Kay, Gaynor, Ann and Marilyn struggled against a strong Pencoed team, losing 6-19. The same fate fell to Ros, Wyn, Joan and Etta, losing 7-22.

A 5 on the 10th end made sure Liz, Rosemary, Jenny and Julie won 17-12; welcome to Gaynor and Rosemary who have joined us this year.

Only two points ladies, but you all played well, the difficulty of no green to practice on due to the late opening of the club was hard on everyone, especially our new players.

Sully Bowls Club fall victim to Goliath!

WE have all heard the story about David and Goliath – well, this week, Goliath won again.

With Sully Bowls Club's midweek fixture against Barry Athletic being another victim to the dodgy weather, the villagers looked forward to the arrival of Ely Valley bowlers.

On what started as a lovley Saturday afternoon, Sully Bowling club were ready for a great home game against a very strong Ely Valley club but when one of the home side failed to turn up, the die was cast for a long, tough afternoon.

After an hour, the weather changed with a biting wind and a few spots of rain, so, along with the wind went the hopes of the home side.

Bearing in mind the visitors had among their ranks eight past and present internationals and 10 county bowlers, you now understand the task ahead and the Goliath reference.

Let's start with a positive: the performance of the D Lougher, H Thomas, B Curtis and A Thomas was simply great. Behind on 10 ends and on 15, they came back to turn it around and won 20-17.

The other three rinks were not so good, all going down to strong sides: R Fitzjohn, H L Jones, J Best, D Curtis 12-25; B Dascombe, T Murphy, D Edwards 7-34; D Curtin, E Pryer, M Hardy, B Griffiths 15-34.

This week is the start of the Munro Cup and the visit from Llantwit Major before travelling to Porthcawl on Saturday for the next WBA game.

YMCA Barry tumbling team's first competition

YMCA Barry have had huge success with their women's artistic and male artistic squad, but the club has recently expanded to into tumbling gymnastics.

YMCA Barry gymnasts competed in their first tumbling competition, where four boys travelled to Haverfordwest to compete in the Welsh Tumble League against gymnasts who have focussed on tumbling for many years.

Danny Crespo, Ethan Williams, Harvey Burton-Slocombe and Tom Compton had only been training in tumbling gymnastics for two months, so competing at this level in such a short time was a huge achievement.

Under their coach Gareth Slocombe, the boys performed fantastically and demonstrated great maturity throughout the competition. In the seven-year-old category, Danny Crespo performed beautiful routines and became the foundation stage Welsh champion.

In the eight to nine-years foundation category, against extremely tough competition, Ethan earned fourth overall.

In the 10 to 11 foundation category, Tom Compton demonstrated very dynamic routines and claimed second overall.

Finally, in the 12 to 13-years Foundation category, Harvey Burton-Slocombe became the Welsh champion. Congratulations to Danny, Ethan, Tom, Harvey and their coach Gareth, excellent results and two Welsh champions in their first tumbling competition.

Would you like your son or daughter to try gymnastics? YMCA Barry gymnastics offers gymnastics for preschool, beginners to elite for boys and girls, disability gymnastics, trampolining, cheerleading and teen gymnastics. YMCA Barry are also holding a talent identification morning on May 26; for more information, call 01446 724000, email sophie@ymcabarry.org.uk or follow on social media @ymcabarry.

Dingoes lift Ninian Stuart Cup

DINAS Powys RFC Dingoes captain Tom Paterson lifted the Ninian Stuart Cup at a sun-drenched Cardiff Arms Park after his side defeated Pentyrch seconds in a thrilling contest.

The Dingoes dominated the contest and their margin of victory should have been greater, but scoring chances were squandered and two tries gifted to their opponents ensured a tense final.

The Dingoes enjoyed the majority of territory and possession but it took them half an hour to breach a well-organised and motivated Pentyrch defence.

A stunning break by full back Dai Lloyd saw winger Mark Goode in support and the right wing took a direct route to score another Arms Park try, adding to his match-winning try three seasons ago in the final of the Mallett Cup.

The conversion was added by centre Dan Evans and to the relief of the Dingo contingent in the large crowd they led by 7-0. However, this lead was to last only a minute as the Dingoes tried to run the regathered restart, only to see a long looping pass intercepted, allowing Pentyrch to score a try that was converted, making the half-time score 7-7.

The Dingoes started the second half brightly and early pressure saw centre Tom Chapman and outside half Carwyn Jones combine to release flanker Morgan Williams, who was held up over the tryline.

The resulting scrum saw the Dingoes again threaten to score as number 8 Gaz Williams and second rows James Walters and Matt Knibbs drove powerfully towards the Pentyrch line.

The Pentyrch forwards were attacking the ruck with great ferocity and preventing the Dingo threequarters the quick ball that they craved, and again they managed to turn over possession on the Pentyrch tryline.

The clearance kick was scuffed due to excellent pressure upon the kicker by scrum half Finley Davies, the ball took a very high bounce off the artificial grass surface and was gathered by centre Dan Evans who danced his way over for a try that he also converted.

The Dingoes soon added to their score as Fin Davies sprinted away from the base of a scrum on a dazzling 35-metre run to score a scintillating individual try.

With 20 minutes remaining and the Dingoes leading by 19-7, a comfortable final quarter may have been anticipated by Dingo supporters, but a spirited fightback by Pentyrch ensured a tense finale.

The Pentyrch pack tried to maul their way over from a series of lineouts but fine defensive work by front rowers Tom Paterson, Dan Davies and Caleb Robinson saw the Pentyrch rolling maul driven back with gusto.

The pressure, however, eventually told as a raft of Dingo substitutions disrupted their grip on the contest and saw the Pentyrch right wing cross to score in the corner, with an excellent conversion reducing the Dingo lead to 19-14.

The Dingo forwards, urged on by Paterson, produced a series of powerful scrum drives and controlled the ball effectively to see out the contest and gain a superb victory, seeing Dinas Powys RFC lift the Ninian Stuart Cup for the first time in its 110 year history.

Barry Kyokushin take the IKO Welsh Championships by storm

ON Saturday, May 4, Barry Kyokushin hosted the third IKO Welsh Championships.

Barry Kyokushin put 29 members of their club into this tournament and came away with 38 trophies.

The day started with Synchronised Kata (form) with two teams in from Barry against three others teams from other areas of the UK.

Barry team one comprising of Ben Bolanos (15), Justine Bolanos (13) and Leanne Lirio (14) performed a solid and perfectly synchronised Gekisai Dai kata and took first place. Barry team two comprising of Kelly Shi (14) Cian Wilmot (13) and James Shi (13) performed Pinan Go and were just 0.4 of a point below their fellow club members and settled for second place.

The individual Kata involved students who had never competed before but the Barry club took all three top spots, Tudor Constantine (9) took third, Kayden Lewis (9) second and Gabriella Sedgmond (9) first.

In Kata 2, Angie Perks (9) beat six other contenders to take first while in Kata 3 Sebastian Barczewski (11) took third while Jamie Jones took second. In Kata 4, Justine Bolanos came first, Kelly Shi second and Leanne Lirio third.

Kata 5 saw Ben Bolanos finish first while Cian Wilmot took second. Kata 6 saw senior student Claire Norman take first while Yousef Hasan took second.

Then came higher grade Kata, where club assistant instructor Senpai Rhian Evans (23) took to the mat competing for her 10th consecutive national title which she achieved by scoring 21.9.

In Kumite (Fighting) Lloyd and Jamie Jones (10) found themselves against each other in the final, where Lloyd came out victorious.

In Junior Kumite 4 Justine Bolanos and Kelly Shi came up against each other in the final, Justine emerging the winner.

Junior Kumite 5 saw teammates Ben and Cian in action. Cian unfortunately lost in the early rounds but Ben took first place, his third of the tournament.

Last up for the semi-contact Kumite was Jack Garrett (17), who reached the final and saw his opponent disqualified, giving him the win.

In Cadet Knockdown Angie Perks, Katie Cookson and Lily Evans found themselves in the finals where a round-robin was created. Angie was victorious, Lily finishing second and Katie third.

In the second category for the day, Simba Lewis and Tudor Constantine were knocked out in the early rounds; however Kayden Lewis, Ryan Marshall and Harri Evans battled on, Kaden coming third while Harri took the win over Ryan in the final.

The third category saw Lloyd and Jamie Jones and Sebastian Barczewski in action. Due to injury Sebastian couldn't continue, Jamie was knocked out in the early rounds, but Lloyd finished second.

The fourth category saw Eve Conway (12) fighting for the very first time. Eve sailed through the preliminary rounds and secured a much-deserved first place.

In the fifth category, Cian Wilmot and James Shi went out in the early round in the early rounds, but Ben Bolanos came through to take his fourth first place.

Category six saw Barry students Leanne Lirio take second place and Justine Bolanos first, and last up for the Cadet Knockdown was Jack Garrett (17). Jack took the win in the final, his second first place of the day.

Vale Surf Lifesavers impress at events

VALE Surf Life Saving Club were represented across all age groups at the recent Surf Life Saving GB Stillwater Pool Competitions held in Cardiff.

The Nipper team competed in their first ever GB Championships on the weekend of March 23/24.

Representing the club were Harry, Summer, Elinor, Kaiya, Michael, Esme, Katie Luen-Twinning, Owen, Ollie, Gethin, Jess, Katie Oakley, Evie, Honor and Freya. Competing against the top surf lifesaving clubs in Great Britain every member of the team produced personal best times with excellent performances over the two days of competition.

Many congratulations to Harry for his outstanding manikin carry race which won him a silver medal in a time which beat the GB record.

Vale Surf Lifesaving Club is very proud to be represented by such an amazing group of Nippers and wish to thank Jo and Jodie for their excellent team management on the Saturday and Nia for all the work she puts in to coordinate the youngest section of the club. Thanks also to all the coaches and youth/senior club members who have helped out with Nipper pool training over the winter months.

The Youth, Open and Masters GB Stillwater Competition took place in Cardiff over the weekend of April 27/28.

The youth team represented by Louie, Ellie, Declan, Ben, Maisie, Brooke, Emily, Alice, Tesni and Reuben had a very successful day, finishing in 13th place out of the 25 clubs competing.

As well as achieving places and therefore valuable points for the club the youth team also came away with three GB medals. Ben Ewington swam superbly to achieve a bronze medal in the Rescue Medley with Emily Parker winning a bronze medal in the Super Lifesaver along with a gold medal winning performance in the manikin tow with fins.

Despite only being 15, Emily won the under-17 race in a time that would also have won the under-19 race, knocking two seconds off her personal best time.

Great team spirit, support and performances by each and every one of the youth team and many thanks to Kelsea and Simon for their team management.

The following day saw many of the Youth team return to the pool to compete alongside their older team mates in the Open event. The Open team comprising of Tesni, Ellie, Reuben, Brooke, Kelsea, Emily, Hana, James, Declan and Daf all produced outstanding performances to finish in 6th place making Vale the highest ranked Welsh team at the event. It was great to see new members Hana Blake and James Hamer competing for the club for the first time, both of whom swam brilliantly gaining many points for their team.

Competing alongside the Open squad were the Masters team of Nia, Becky, Gemma and Simon.

In her first GB Stillwater competition Becky put in great performances to finish in fifth place in two of her events.

The team came home with an outstanding 10 medals with Nia winning two bronze medals, Gemma a fantastic two gold medals and a bronze and Simon two gold and three silver medals.

As a result of these excellent performances by all four Masters the team finished a fantastic eighth place out of the 19 teams competing.

Thanks to all those who came to support in Cardiff and to everyone who helped out with timekeeping and moving manikins during the competition.

As well as training and competing Vale Surf Lifesaving Club enjoyed a club barbecue and Easter egg hunt on Easter Sunday.

Many thanks to Steph for organising the event which was enjoyed by all. With the winter pool season completed training now returns to the beach ahead of what will be a busy and fun summer of training and competition.

Sully Sports bowlers have a busy week

SULLY Sports Bowls Club hosted Vale neighbours Rhoose in a friendly on May 8.

Heavy rain at the start eased to intermittent showers, but didn't put a damper on the spirit in which it was played, nor reduce the quality of both sides' bowling.

Each team won two rinks each, but the Sports snatched the win on aggregate, 59-46.

K Aguis' rink down were two shots after six ends, but then won the remaining nine ends for a 16 shot win, while Lee Romans' rink, playing a man short, were up against it for seven ends where they were 1-11 down.

They took the next six ends to tie the scores at 12 shots each, with two ends left. Rhoose took two shots on the penultimate end, but the Sports were lying one shot with the final bowl to come.

To the distress of the home side and with glory to the visitors, it just travelled a few inches too far, and Rhoose had a one shot win.

C Coomber's rink were behind for most of the early stages, but took a one shot lead on the ninth end. The last six ends were very close, but Rhoose took five of them to run out winners by five shots.

G Brown's rink led from the start, but the visitors fought bravely throughout to keep in touch and the Sports held on for a three shot win.

Rink scores: D Burbridge, D Davies, G Currie, G Brown 15-12; B Knight, J Pearce, A Fitt, C Coomber 9-14; M Stafford, K Romans, L Romans 13-14; P Collier, P Holland, K Agius 22-6. Sully Sports man of the match: B Knight.

On May 11, Sully Sports entertained Bridgend Municipal in the Carruthers Cup and were a distant second.

The Sports won one rink by a shot, and lost another by a shot, but heavy defeats on the other two rinks gave the visitors an aggregate 96-54 victory.

K Aguis' rink led for the first three ends but lost the lead on the fourth and did not regain it until the 19th, being eight shots down at one stage.

A shot on the penultimate end gave the a lead of two on the final end, but the visitors only managed a single, and the Sports secured a remarkable comeback win.

L Romans' rink had a surprisingly heavy defeat, going 10 shots down in the first four ends, and never recovering from that to win only four of the 21 ends overall.

C Coomber's rink had a close fought game, and after taking the lead on the fourth end, they built up a seven shot lead on the 12th, only to concede six shots on the 13th.

The visitors levelled on the 14th end and led by six shots with two ends remaining, but despite the Sports winning both, they fell short with Bridgend clinching a one shot win.

G Brown's rink uncharacteristically fell to a heavy defeat, winning two of the opening three ends, but then only winning four of the remaining 18 ends.

Rink scores: A Thompson, D Davies, G Currie, G Brown 9-29; B Whyman, L Adams, K Romans, L Romans 6-28; A Fitt, P Collier, B Matthews, K Agius 21-20;

B Knight, P Holland, A Collard, C Coomber 18-19. Sully Sports man of the match: Keith Agius.

This Saturday, May 18, Sully Sports travel to Maesteg Celtic for their next WBA Carruthers Shield fixture, and then host Romilly on May 22 in a Munroe Cup game.

Penarth Bowls Club round-up

BOTH first and second teams of Penarth Bowling Club went down by narrow margins last weekend.

The first team entertained a lively Newport Athletic in a friendly fixture at Rectory Road.

The overall result went in Newport's favour by five shots, 65-70.

Unfortunately the rink of Nick Chandler, Bob Horne, Chas Burton and Mike Conway failed to master the challenges of a difficult rink and went down badly by 8-29. Some loose bowling throughout did not help the cause either.

Clive Fry, Paul Gunter, Jack Beanland and Phil Davies more than made up the deficit, winning convincingly by 29 shots to 8. Colin Grant rink had a real battle, holding a 12-5 lead after 12 ends and eventually finishing with a draw 15-15.

Tony Holmes similarly battled well to the 17th end but dropped seven shots on the next two ends to lose by eight shots, 13-21.

Fortunes were somewhat similar for the PG2 side as they travelled to Cardiff Athletic losing by just eight shots overall, 77-85.

Nick Thomas, Brian Hocking, Trevor Jenkins and Brian Chandler produced a resounding 30-16 win. Brian Brennan, Derek Blainey, Brian Knight and Tony Gent weighed in with a very creditable score of 22-15 and captain John must have been confident of pulling off a great win.

Unfortunately the Bob Lewis rink of Birkby, Curtin and England faltered to a 11-34 reversal. Haydn Trow, captain John, Alex Forsyth and Peter Needham just failed despite a late rally, going down by six shots, 14-20.

The ladies continued their excellent start to the Evening League games with another close victory at Penylan. The overall score was a win by three shots, 34-31.

The winning margin came courtesy of a three shot advantage on the Wendy Grant, Betty Jones, Jill Gaskell and Chris Davies rink, winning by 18 shots to 15.

The Sue Croll rink of Kath Jenkins, Barbara Brown and Christina Church certainly played their part, picking up three shots on the last end to earn a battling 16-16 draw.

Unfortunately Fortune was not so kind to the Double Rink side as they took on Barry Central at Rectory green.

Pat Reynolds, Joan Leis, Diana Wilcox and Viv Duckers went down narrowly by just three shots, 13-16.

A six shot deficit, 14-20 suffered by June Williams, Val Turner, Anne Thomas and Coral Regan meant an overall defeat of 27 shots to 36. Both rinks played really well but were not able to claw back from being behind from the middle of the game.

Charity day a success for Brynhill ladies

The lady captain (right) with the home winners.

ON a cold and breezy Thursday morning, ladies from Brynhill Golf Club and visitors from other clubs took part in a 10-hole charity stableford competition.

There was plenty on offer to welcome ladies when they came in, along with raffles with prizes to win plus a bottle stall.

Ladies' captain Jo Kirkpatrick welcomed everyone; her chosen charity is Crohns & Colitis UK and nearly £1,000 was raised. She thanked Kim and Laura from the charity for their hard work and presented flowers to them.

The ladies' captain thanked all the visiting clubs who took part as well as her own ladies from Brynhill. She also thanked Brynhill's past lady captains for supporting her event as they had a conflicting golf event that day.

She took the opportunity to thank all those who had helped her on the day especially her committee, Julie, Norma, Claire Herbert, Audrey, Jan Tattersall, catering and bar staff plus her daughter Rhian and husband John who was starter for the competition.

She then did a draw for two special raffle prizes for Crohns & Colitis UK – a hamper donated by the ladies' captain and a John Lewis voucher kindly donated by Carole Allen.

Winner of the hamper was Carole Allen and the winner of the voucher was Liz Taylor.

Jo finished her speech by inviting visiting ladies to play in the Brynhill Ladies Open on July 19. The club president thanked all those who helped make the morning a success. She also congratulated the winners and thanked everyone for supporting the club.

The ladies' captain then announced the winners of the charity coffee morning competition and presented them with their prizes.

Ladies' away: 1st place Maggie Harries (Ridgeway) 19 points over the back three from second place – Ruth Yates (Dinas Powis); 19 points over the back four from third place Gilly Bennett (Glamorganshire) 19 points.

Valiant effort from chess team

WITH only three weeks left in the normal East Glamorgan Chess League season, this was a quiet week.

We played only one match against the Cardiff Crowns. In our generosity we have played both of our matches against the Crowns in Cardiff albeit in two different venues.

The Crowns are chasing promotion, needing only 1.5 points whereas the Camelots know they will be remaining in Division 2 next season so a tough match was anticipated.

Our team was weaker than normal so anything that could be earned would be considered quite a bonus.

Team captain Tom Cooke was the last player to finish on the night. He had the advantage of a rook and pawn against a knight and pawn but with time running out he couldn't find the win that was surely there and had to settle for a draw. Unfortunately that was the sum total of our valiant efforts.

The Barry Chess Club meets at 7.30pm each Monday at the West End Club, St. Nicholas Road, Barry, CF62 6QY.

The club is open to players of all standards; whether you are interested in playing competitive chess or just the occasional friendly games.

Cadoxton bowlers start new season with a win

CADOXTON Bowls Club opened their season hosting a Welsh Club Championship match (Carruthers), against Llantwit Major.

The outcome was a comfortable win for the home side who led throughout the game. There were two successful rinks on each side.

Howard Craven skipped the top rink against old stalwart Neville Young, followed closely by the rink skipped by Don Kuhnell against Steve Booker.

Howard's rink scored steadily with just seven losing ends, to amass his 16 shot authority while Don's rink, after scoring a four on the opening end, lost the next five ends to trail 6-4.

However with Jim Stacey playing his usual accurate lead bowls they improved their performance and conceded just five further singles, while adding a 5 and three 3s amongst the remaining ends.

Newcomer Mike Hurley skipped his rink against the experienced Graham Jones and was beaten narrowly after conceding a 5 on the penultimate end.

Due to some late withdrawals, the fourth rink was set up with two reserves and skipped by Eric Palmer another new addition to the club. Regrettably they struggled to match the opposition and trailed throughout.

Scores: E Heppenstall, G Goddard, W Craven, H Craven 27, S Comer, M Harmon, T Thomas N Young 11; J Stacey, D Sluman, I Heppenstall, D Kuhnell 26, R Voges, D Post, A Horgan, S Booker 11; K Davies, D Jenkins, M Curtis, E Palmer 13, M Hughes, A Hayes, J Crane, G Merchant 25; E Davies, A Prince, J Davies, M Hurley 17, D Mutlow, L Fry, E Sparkes, G Jones 22. Final score: 83-69.
